The true figures of British shipping losses must now exceed the 20,000,000 ton mark.

A B.B.C. commentator, Robert Johnson had said that the British public did not know what was happening. It appeared that Britain was not even holding her own in the war at sea. But despite the veil of secrecy, certain facts leaked through to the "little man" — the British public.

In the debate in Commons Mr. Oliver Littleton, Minister of Production had stated that the United States was producing ships at an un-believable rate. Yet, surely, the United Nations could do better than not hold their own ?

Littleton's self satisfied complacency was evident also when he spoke on the question of tanks. "We are is like the waiter who keeps a horde of diners waiting, occasionally throwing them a re-assuring ' Coming, Sir!'

Britain's position was that she was always fighting the battle of the current year with the weapons of the year before. This was demonstrated by the tide of events in Libya. Dunkirk in particular, Greece, Crete, and Malaya," said Deedsoe, "they should have assembled this great body of experience-bitter experience, which they have failed miser-ably to make use of."

Littleton had announced that the At least, it was in the fighting line where they were needed; not on the production lines. "Type for type," said Littleton, "we have no reason to be afraid of the German guns." Obviously Littleton had been comparing his blue-prints with photographs of out-of-date German armaments, remarked the speaker. Sir Andrew Duncan, too, stated that British design was well ahead of German types. "He cannot have seen the latest German news-reel showing the newest heavy siege guns at Sevastopol," Deedsoe comment-"If he had it is doubtful ed whether his blue-prints would have allayed his misgivings.

"But the two-day debate," he went on, "did contain a word of warning. It was stated that the quality of British aircraft was inferior to that of American. This must be a shock to the British public.

" Even more important was the observation of the Conservative member Higgs, when he said that there was too much Government interference with the business people and the running of their affairs, if industrialists could be allowed to make a little more profit it would be an incentive for them.

" I, for one-although I have not resided in Germany for the last 20 years, nine of those with National-Socialism -will understand that this remark throws into sharp relief the attitude of the British industrialist. I will not forget the British " Business-as-usual slogan of the last World War. It is just as much out of date in this one as the arms and tanks with which the British are fighting. The great tragedy Among the remarks in the Commons' is that the British people do not realise

After the Fall of Sevastopol The Military Situation in the Black Sea

The military D.N.B. writes that the present mili-tary situation is dominated by five prin-of the year being ended, they had cipal points which make the perspective of future operations appear very som-bre for the enemies of the signatories of the Tripartite Pact. These are the points:

1. The approach, by Axis troops, to Alexandria, last important British naval base in the eastern part of the Mediterranean;

2. The advance of Japanese troops towards the eastern frontier of India and the command of the Indian Ocean exercised by the Japanese Navy;

3. The loss, during the month of June, of millions of tonnage suffered by the Anglo-American merchant fleets and caused by the operations of German units only;

4. The fall of Sebastopol, which causes the Allies to lose all hope of reconquering a dominant position in the Black Sea;

5. The opening of the European offensive against the U.S.S.R.

Precising that these five points form a whole which is the result of a collective plan of action established by the headquarters of the armies and navies of German, Italy and Japan, the correspondent continues by declaring that the German military experts con-sider the 1st of July as a historic date, as it marks the opening of the second phase of the fight against the U.S.S.R. The European offensive has commnced at the moment when the German H.Q. was advised by the chiefs of the Army correspondent.

The correspondent adds that the military experts draw special attention to the exploits of the German Roumanian troops facing Sebastopol and indi-cating that the High Command had during the course of this battle artillery material to which is due to a large extent the rapid successes obtained. "In fact," continues the correspondent, 'Sebastopol has been taken in 23 days, whereas it took in 1855 the Franco British troops 349 days to capture it." The correspondent recalls that the allies possessed 800 cannons, an extraordinary figure for this epoch, which fired 1,350,000 shells on the fortress; the Franco-British lost 80,000 men during this siege and the Russians 120,000.

Returning to present operations, the correspondent recalls that the attack against the fortification of Sebastopol was launched on June 8th and enumerated the following stages which brought final victory to the German-Roumanian troops: June 14th, capture of Fort Stalin; the 16th, capture of Fort Siberia; the 19th, break-through by German forces, who gain footing in the Bay of Severnaia; the 21st, capture of Fort Lenin; and finally, on the 30th, the capture by assault of the heights of Sapun, which transformed the assault into a simple march forward

Second Fatality Within Four Days

DROWNED DESPITE COURACEOUS RESCUE ATTEMPTS

Guernsey has been shocked to learn of two fatalities which have occurred within four days of each other. It is with profound regret that we record the second fatality which took place yesterday, the victim being Mr. George Bowditch, a 71-year-old fisherman, of Eastdale, Church-road, St. Sampson's.

Accompanied by Mr. F. Parsons, of Church Lane, St. Sampson's, Mr. Bowditch had set out for fishing in his boat from Bordeaux Harbour shortly before 7 o'clock yesterday morning. At the time there was a fairly heavy swell and a gusty wind. Not far from the shore the small boat was driven on to the Houmet Paradis Rocks where it was holed badly and sunk immediately. Despite the efforts of Mr. Parsons - who eventually saved himself by cling. ing to the rocks - and other fishermen who came to the rescue, Mr. Bowditch was drowned when he relinquished his hold on a floating box.

The efforts of the rescuers almost averted the tragedy but after endangering their own lives.

The body of the victim was recovered yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock by deceased's son, Mr. William Bowditch. To him, the widow, and the other children we extend our sympathy, and that of our readers.

THE INQUEST

The full story of the fatality was revealed in the Coroner's Court to-day when an enquiry into the tragedy was held before the Coroner, Jurat Quertier Le Pelley.

Inspector A. J. Langmead detailed the circumstances of the accident.

"SPORT OF KINGS" AMHERSTIANS BEST

"The Sport of Kings" is the best show the Amherstian Players have given the Guernsey public. With its production they have lifted themselve With its from the groove and presented a really entertaining comedy which will be enjoved by all classes of play-goers. And, incidentally, they have set them-selves a standard that is very high for a group only formed since the Occupation and comprising in the main comparative newcomers to the theatre. Taking the play as a whole, there is no dearth of laughs. Most of Ian Hay's comedies are dependable that way The performances returned by the actors and actresses are uniformly good-with two exceptions, these are Peter Campbell and Lionel Taylor.

The former is excellent in the manner he has created the character of Amos Purdie, J.P. I venture to suggest that Mr. Campbell is the only local actor who could have handled the role so well. His abilities must be an inspiration to the rest of the cast. However, on Tuesday evening he was finding his lines "sticky"-unusual for him-and was guilty of unintentional spoonerisms.' No doubt he has had great deal of work thrust on him; he

William Bowditch, of Lulworth Cove, Church Road, St. Sampson's, stated that deceased was his father and aged 71. Witness had searched for the body and found it lying in a gully. They brought it to St. Sampson's Harbour. Frank Parsons, of Church Lane, St. Sampson's, said that about 6.45 a.m. on Thursday he was with Mr. Bowditch in his boat "Hope." They were near a rock known as Houmet Paradis when they struck. The boat sank immediate-Witness swam to a rock but Mr. Bowditch elung to a box.

" It is my solemn privilege to preside over the last rites of a very brave man. It was to save from injury and possible death the children on their way to school that Clifford Henry Le Tissier so nobly laid down his life.

"A man of uprightness and integrity; a man who loved the Lord and walked in H.s way; esteemed by us all; he was a very gallant gentleman . Greater love hath no man than this, that a man will lay down his life for his friends.'

So said the Rev. F. G. Waterbury, B.D., Rector of the Castel, in Lis Parish Church at 3.15 p.m. yesterday afternoon, at the funeral service of Mr. Clifford Henry Le Tissier, of La Pouquelêh, Castel, who was fatally gored and injured by a bull, running loose, which he was trying to hold and capture.

It was a solemn moment. The southern half of the Church was quite filled. Behind the Rector sat Mr. Frank Way (organist) and the surpliced choir, Facing the Rector were the Parish Douzaine and Constables, sitting en corps, also the mourners, pall-bearers and scores of leading islanders. On the other hand discerning house wives could find some perfect dessertsized tomatoes, well-ripened and in first-grade condition marked as thirdgrade and offered at 6d. per lb.!

Figs were a feature on one stall, selling from 6d. to 1s. 3d. each, and also in punnets at 5s. for 4, 5 and 6 fruits. Raspberries were 4s. per 1b. Peaches and nectarines also were a feature on a few stalls, and found early purchasers.

VAZON RESIDENT BURNED BY EXPLODING STOVE

A very painful accident befell Mr. W. J. Allez, of La Rocquette, Vazon, when at about 9.30 p.m. yesterday he was attending to a Primus stove at that address.

By some means not yet accounted for the stove suddenly exploded with sufficient force to blow away part of the roof of the shed in which the acci-PART I.: 1 Quick March; 2 Over-
