FACTS—NOT WISHFUL THINKING

Plain Speaking by E. R. Deedsoe

Edward Roderick Deedsoe said things bluntly on the German wireless from Bremen at 1.30 yesterday afternoon when he spoke to the English World at large on current affairs.

Deedsoe said: "Ten weeks ago I ventured to stress that many of the statements uttered and written by British officials and sources were those prompted by wishful thinking, and I urged that such statements should be put aside, and, rather, that the facts governing the situations reviewed he faced squarely.

Here, continued the broadcaster, he expected to meet his hearers on common ground at least, and, to indulge in memory, he would reveal that if such desire to face facts squarely had always been the case, he might still have been doing as he did in the old days, broadcast from the B.B.C. "I might have continued if the facing of facts squarely had continued," he affirmed.

Deedsoe observed that he felt his listeners would agree that he had merited and kept their confidence by keeping his talks well within the framework of hard facts.

As to evidences of wishful thinking, his listeners would remember the publicity given to Libya, and all that remained to ask on this was whether what the German side had claimed had or had not failed to be fulfilled.

Was it not evident to-day that there was a vast discrepancy between what had been predicted about General Ritchie and his Army there, and the disastrous story of the fall of Tobruk which was now admitted. This showed how wishful thinking had once more allowed the public to be misguided and drawn in. In fact, the public were constantly kept misinformed until the shock of the truth came like "a bolt from the blue."

It was all very well for Major Atlee to refer to reports sent on which the information was based. There were apparently mysterious spokesmen at Cairo in close communication with the Prime Minister. Churchill himself was one of the most conspicuous offenders, for he had assured the House that he was satisfied, and more than satisfied, with the developments of the military situation in North Africa. No wonder indeed that some members of the House of Commons wished to take him to task. But Churchill had vanished—to America, and thus the attempt was being made to divert attention from North Africa to Washington.

It was true, however, that Major Atlee, deputising in Churchill's absence, had promised a full debate in the House on the subject of North Africa, but it was doubtful if the Prime Minister would attend it in person. Earl Winterton had urged that the Prime Minister should attend this debate, but one should "wait and see" whether the debate was a staged affair, complete with the introduction of a vote of "No Confidence" in the Government, so that this could be defeated and the inference gathered that the British stood solidly behind their Government.

But, observed Mr. Deedsoe, remembering how long an Election has been deferred, one views the members and their actual representation of the people in a different light.

"If a scapegoat for the situation in North Africa is needed," continued the speaker, "that person will be found in the quarter that the Prime Minister desires."

The Prime Minister was a gifted orator but not a strategist, and this fact would be regarded as one of the major blunders of the war, but the fact discovered only when it was too late. It was interesting to notice that Gen. Ritchie had not been mentioned for some days. Usually men in command were at least praised for their skill in selecting the right moment to retreat! There were rumours that Gen. Ritchie had been relieved of his post. Such a course might perhaps satisfy the people for the moment. In reality, however, such admissions were but lame excuses and did not touch the trouble at all. The fact was that Rommel's forces received support much more rapidly than did the British Army. Surely Churchill and his advisers should have been able to read the map!

Mr. Deedsoe then passed on to the review of tonnage at sea. It was true that the British were still kept in ignorance of the amount of Allied shipping sunk. Here he would remark that the German Supreme Command had just announced that another 20 ships, of 102,000 gross registered tonnage, had been sunk in the Atlantic and American waters. By the statement that the monthly loss of shipping sunk varied from 750,000 to 800,000 tons, attention was drawn to the fact that the German figures could be taken as being a safe basis for computation of loss at sea.

The "Manchester Guardian" demanded that no "doctored" figures be given as was done in the Great War—figures which were no good at all. Here Mr. Deedsoe expressed a personal opinion that in this early instance was an evidence of wishful thinking.

There was now the matter of a second front being discussed. But there was not a ghost of a chance for such a front owing to the dilemma of the Allies in regard to shipping; but to entertain such a subject might serve to quieten many voices crying for such. Roosevelt and Churchill were in conference, but they were not strategists.

Americans Anxious on the Fate of Russia

Commenting on the present relations between the United States and Russia, the American Review "Time," publishes the following:—

"The American people are following, with the greatest attention, present events in Russia and the fate of the Soviet Union is causing anxiety from several points of view."

The basis of this anxiety is first of all a selfish one, as it is feared that a German victory over the Russians will expose the other allies, and especially the United States to the greatest dangers. No one in the United States has even an approximate idea of the real strength of Soviet Russia, but, nevertheless, it is well understood that the Russians cannot sustain the impulse of the German attacks indefinitely.

Last February, American supplies to Russia were 50 per cent. lower than President Roosevelt had promised Mr. Stalin. During the ensuing months, maritime transport to Russia greatly suffered through shortage of tonnage and the continued attacks of the German Air Force and Navy.

It must be acknowledged also that geography everywhere is of assistance to the Axis Powers. No doubt Mr. Litvinov is doing all in his power at Washington to convince Mr. Roosevelt's government of the extreme urgency of American aid. But, unfortunately, the Russian Ambassador arrived in the United States after Pearl Harbour and thus too late.

The Review acknowledges, with frankness, that "the Soviet Ambassador was given to understand that, actually, instead of helping Russia, it was the United States which really needed the help of the Bolsheviks,"—and it was insisted—according to the journal that "great relief would be felt in Washington if the Russians would bombard Tokio."

To this suggestion Mr. Litvinov replied that the aerial bombardment of Tokio could in no way relieve the military efforts of the Americans and that at the present time Russia had very serious reasons for not wishing to be involved in a war with Japan. "We have quite enough to do with Germany," said Mr. Litvinov.

The Problem of Distances in Pacific Warfare

(By MAJOR VON KEISER, Ret.)

If, before the entrance of the United States into the War, Roosevelt and Secretary of Navy, Knox, really believed as firmly as they publicly affirmed in a quick victory over Japan, they manifested an astonishing lack of understanding for problems of space—problems which play a decisive role in combats across the gigantic Pacific. In such a combat other strategical rules must be applied than in the small-spaced naval war in the Baltic, the North Sea, or in the Mediterranean. Even the greatest military and economic superiority becomes effective only if it is possible to bring the superior forces across gigantic expanses to the enemy and continually safeguard their reinforcement from the far-away homeland.

In consequence of her tremendous extension from North to South and the bizarre shape of her coasts, Japan, if only the main islands are taken into account, has approximately 30,000 kilometres (19,000 miles) of coastline to protect, while the coastline of her entire possessions is 45,000 kilometres (28,000 miles). The danger inherent in such an extended coasting which offers many points of attack, is more than balanced, however, by the unique position and shape of the string of Japanese Islands which, off the coast of Japanese islands, the OOLP (Outer Line of Pacific Islands) of Eastern Asia extend from the southern point of Kamchatka, in the North, far down to the tropical South. Thus Japan dominates all the avenues of approach to the Asiatic mainland and is in the position to control all the ports from Hong Kong to Vladivostok. The advantage of this position, which gives Japan a natural right to supremacy in Eastern Asia, is furthermore increased by the tremendous expanses of ocean which lie between her and the two strongest sea powers in the world: the United States and England. Her powerful navy and island bases extending far into the ocean in a south-easterly direction (the Marian, Caroline, and Marshal Islands) purposely converted by Japan into naval bases to close off the western part of the Pacific from the east, i.e., from America, have given Japan aerial and naval supremacy in the Western Pacific.

WOMEN UNDER THE SOVIET STAR

By Dr. A. Petmecky

During its 24 years of rule Bolshevism has managed to change the women's position in the Soviet Union in such a manner that nothing comparable could be found in any civilized country in the world. The spiritual collapse of the Bolshevik system was nowhere more apparent than in the development and present position of the women in the Bolshevik State structure. To-day we see how the Bolshevik woman bears her life as a subject treated without rights and of inferior value; for the "equality" and the "freedom" which Bolshevism was supposed to bring has in a hardly believable manner taken every vestige of right from her as a woman and degraded her as a human being.

The dissolution of marriage and family systematically practised from the beginning of Bolshevik rule was at the expense of the woman and beyond that, of course, at the expense of the children and the youth. Bolshevism could only successfully accomplish its bloody revolution if all the powers working for the community or the state were destroyed. Bolshevism destroyed the community of the sexes by dissolving marriage, and the community between the generations by breaking up family life and educating the children to enmity towards their own parents.

When in 1927 the Soviet marriage legislation besides the registered marriage introduced a so-called "de facto" marriage, the seed was laid for the destruction of marriage and family life; for this "de facto" marriage which was already considered existing "if or when the couple considered themselves to be husband and wife" offered every opportunity of so-called "freedom" for the man and, of course, for the woman. However, it has again and again been proven that such a development was at the expense of the woman. The past years have meant unspeakable suffering for the women in Soviet Russia; for they were the victims of these so-called marriages which could be dissolved without any reason whatever from one hour to the other. A visit to the SAGS—the Soviet Registry Office—was all that was needed to dissolve a marriage. Up to 1936 it was not necessary at all to inform the other marriage partner of the dissolution; but after that an "important" alteration was made with the introduction of a law which required the other marriage partner to be present at the SAGS and also raised the costs of subsequent dissolutions.

That this new regulation did not touch the root of the problem in any way has been proven during the following years. The moral chaos which Bolshevik propaganda and Bolshevik laws had created in the Soviet Union could no longer be stemmed. Nor was this changed by the fact that out of expediency last year the Soviet press spoke now and again of a strengthening of the marriage bonds or of re-instituting family life, but it was only a case firstly of not endangering the Bolshevik rising generation out of economic and military considerations, and secondly of making somebody responsible for the utter neglect of Russian youth. This Communist youth for whom in 1935 the death penalty had to be introduced starting from the age of 12 in order to master their crimes, has been neglected to such an extent that they no longer fulfil even the Bolshevik "demands" on them. This fact is also a direct consequence of the Bolshevik marriage and family policy and especially of the Bolshevik doctrine of the "equality" of woman.

The "Bolshevik equality" was based upon the following fundamental attitude: we no longer know any men and women but only workers. The woman if she wants to live must work. The "slavery of housework" is no longer valued as work. Industry and the collective system, that is where woman must be. What would not be possible in any country in the world we see to-day in the Soviet Union. Women work as hewers in mines underground; as wood fellers and as carriers of heavy loads, they put up records and compete with male performers; we can see them at the blast and smelting furnaces, and the Soviet Government calls upon them to be equal to the men in all professions or even to beat the performances of the men. Equality in the Soviet Union, therefore, means that the woman must in all callings work as hard as the man with her physical efficiency not being taken into the slightest consideration. Since 1929 the number of working Soviet women has increased tenfold. Distress and Bolshevik methods have forced 30 million Soviet women to take up work which differs from that of the German woman by the complete absence of any consideration for the female constitution.

Protective and social welfare measures, as are self-understood in German industry, are unknown to the Soviet woman worker. True the care of the coming mother is laid down on paper, but in practice the Soviet woman worker knows nothing of this care.

This is the result of Bolshevik "freedom and equality" for women. Marriage and family are destroyed, youth is left to itself in the street and women perish at the work which forces them to use more strength than the body is capable of giving.

News Bulletins

Murmansk has been bombed by Stukas and bombers. Shipping was attacked in the Bay and one of four in a convoy was hit and sank. Two other steamers of from 6,000 to 7,000 g.r. tonnage were badly damaged. Seven enemy planes were destroyed.

Enemy columns in North Africa were bombed, and a successful action developed east of Sollum on retreating columns.

The Japanese naval forces at the Aleutian Islands occupied two further islands on June 7 and 8, and have changed their names.

GERMAN COMMUNIQUE

BRITISH RETREAT TO EGYPTIAN BORDER

Decisive German Attack Launched at Charkow

From the Fuehrer's Headquarters, June 25th, 1942.

The German Supreme Command announces:—

In the fortress area of Sevastopol the attacks by German and Rumanian troops resulted in further ground being gained in fierce wood and street fighting. Heavy and effective attacks of German Air Force formations were chiefly directed against the positions on the Southern Bay, near Inkermann and against the defence zone round Nikola-jewk.

South-east of Charkow an attack intending the destruction of enemy forces has been in progress since June 22nd.

On the remaining part of the Eastern Front no major operations took place apart from bitter successful fighting with the enemy encircled on the Wolchow.

In the Gulf of Finland German reconnaissance planes destroyed a Soviet motor mine-sweeper.

On the Arctic front the German Air Force sank two merchant ships with a total of 11,000 gross registered tons in Kola Bay and damaged a further large freighter by bomb hits.

In the course of yesterday the Soviets lost 71 aircraft. Seven German planes are missing.

In North Africa German and Italian troops broke the resistance of the enemy on the Libyan-Egyptian border and took the fortresses of Capuzzo, Sollum and Hal-Faya. In hot pursuit of the beaten British forces Sidi El Barani and the area south-east thereof was reached.

In the battle against Great Britain the German Air Force last night dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs on the industrial area of Birmingham, as well as on important war objectives in South-East England.

The bearer of the Oak Leaves to the Knight's Cross of the Iron Cross, Sergeant-Major Steinbatz, pilot in a fighter squadron, has not returned from operations against the enemy after his 99th air victory. The German Air Force hereby loses one of its most successful fighter pilots. In appreciation of the heroism of Sergeant-Major Steinbatz the Fuehrer has posthumously awarded him the Oak Leaves with Swords.

In connection with the successes in the Atlantic, announced in yesterday's German Official Communiqué, the German submarine under the command of Lieutenant-Captain Rostin particularly distinguished itself.

REPEAT MILITARY CONCERT
 AT CANDIE

VARIED SELECTION OF LOVELY MELODIES

Under their Conductor, Bandmaster Gerhard Anders, the 31 Army musicians comprising the resident military band, will assemble at Candie Gardens at 7.30 on Sunday evening to delight their numerous admirers—civilian and military—with a well-varied selection of tunes.

Sunday's programme has been given the appellation of "A Thousand Colourful Tunes." They are, in the main, German compositions, and include descriptive pieces which will give the band instrumentalists ample opportunity of displaying their talents, marches, galops, and fantasias—in fact, one begins to realise that the title given to the programme is extremely apposite when the programme detailed below is considered.

BRITISH COMPOSER
 REPRESENTED

British composers are represented by an acknowledged master, the late Sir Edward Elgar; the orchestra will play his "Love's Greetings."

Intending patrons—and there will be hundreds who will make Candie their rendez-vous if the weather keeps up its present high standard—should cut the programme from this paper for reference during the concert.

- 1.—March in E Flat (March in "E"), Karl Schmidt.
- 2.—Overture to the opera, "The thievish magpie" (Die diebische Elster), overture, Giacomo Rossini.
- 3.—The village swallows from Austria (Dorfschwalben aus Osterreich), waltz, Josef Straus.
- 4.—In a seaport (In einer Hafenstadt), Ernst Fischer.
- 5.—Springtime in Toscana (Fruehling in Toscana), serenade, Gerhard Winkler.
- 6.—Egerlaender Lance Nr. 1 (Egerlaender Tanz Nr. 1, Karl Mayer-Lindauer).
- 7.—On a first run (Auf flotter Fahrt), galop, Erich Boerschel.
- 8.—Greeting to Munich (Grub an Muenchen), March, Gebhard Ottmann.
- 9.—Overture to the opera, "The White Lady" (Die wiesse Dame), overture, A. F. Boieldieu.
- 10.—A Dance at Ziehrer (Ball bei Ziehrer), waltz pot pourri, Hans Schneider.
- 11.—Entry of spring flowers (Einzug de Fruehlingsblumen), Intermezzo, Otto Kockert.
- 12.—Terrace by the sea (Terrasse am Meer), Ernst Fischer.
- 13.—Love greetings (Liebesgruss, Salut d'Amour), Edward Elgar.
- 14.—Dance of the mischievous boys (Tanz der boesen Buben), Fox-intermezzo, Krueger-Hanschmann.
- 15.—Hackekener-March (Hacketaener-Marsch), W. Beez.
- 16.—Her name was Mary (Sie hiess Marie), Soldier's song, Wiga-Gabriel.
- 17.—Strong in faithfulness (In Treue fest), March, Carl Teike.

LARGE GATHERING OF
 CATTLE AUCTION

A sale of pedigree cows, rabbits and farm effects was conducted by Mr. C. Frampton, auctioneer (with whom was Miss V. Frampton, his daughter), in a field at Les Pièces, Forest-road, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. yesterday.

There was a large gathering of farmers and growers.

The following were the closing bids for the cows: Nancy of Les Houards (1929) £30; Maggie VI, of Roberge (1930) £36; Ruth II, of Les Houards (1935) £25; Bickleigh Primrose IV, (1926) £30; Vale Lily April (1939) £45; Glenlea Irene (1940) £40; Darling des Girards (1927) £25; also a 19-year-old cow for fattening, sold for £10.

"WHIRL-A-GIG" AT CENTRAL HALL

At the Little Theatre (Central Hall) to-morrow night Len Teel is presenting another edition of his popular variety show "Whirl-a-Gig," seats for which can be booked at the "Press" Office.

FINE LINE-UP OF ARTISTES

Included in a strong company of well known artistes are Patricia Leeds, Bernadette West, Peggy Bodkin, Edith Howard, Alan Walters, William Solway, Peter Lanyon, Will Potter and, of course, that man again, Len Teel. Norman Langlois will be at the piano. It is described as "still a laughing show," and patrons are asked to book early.

POLICE COURT

SEPTUAGENARIAN CHARGED WITH EXTENSIVE
 PILFERING

To-day, before Jurat Quartier Le Pelley, Magistrate:—

Arthur Mortimer, 75, described as of no occupation, residing at 8a, Pedvin-street, was charged with stealing during June, 1942, from a room at the Ladies' College, 36 boxes of paint, 7 pencil cases, 2 pencil boxes, a quantity of pencils, penholders, rubbers, and paint brushes, value about £3 10s., property of the Ladies' College; further, on June 20, stealing one pair scissors, value 2s. 6d., property of Miss Vera Carey; further, with stealing during June, 1942, one pair gent's cycle leggings, 5 cycle lamps, 2 cycle pumps, property of some person unknown; further with stealing on June 20, one cycle pump, value 5s. 6d., property of Cyril de la Mare; further with stealing 6 cycle pumps, value about pumps, property of some persons unknown; further with changing his address without notifying the Registrar of the parish concerned.

Accused admitted some of the charges but claimed that others were due to loss of memory. He had not realised that he had to notify the Registrar of change of address as he was a "comparative stranger" to the island.

The police stated that accused had made a practice of visiting the Ladies' College during luncheon hour and had stolen various quantities of different articles which he had accumulated in his lodging. He had also sold some of the goods to local dealers. Accused was living alone in a deplorable condition, and was in receipt of Poor Law relief.

Evidence of the conditions in which defendant existed was given by P.C. Le Cocq.

Accused here stated that he was subject to malaria. He had also suffered a family bereavement a few years ago and since then he had not cared what happened to him.

The Magistrate remanded accused for medical examination.

TOOK HIS "OWN" POTATOES

Phillip Carré, L'Ancrese, a grower, was charged with stealing on June 20, about 12lb. of potatoes from a greenhouse, property of the G.U.B.

Defendant stated that he had no intention of stealing. He had handed his greenhouses to the G.U.B. together with tools, manures and other effects, and he had always thought that in taking a few pounds of potatoes he was not stealing.

The police stated that accused had been quite open about the case. He had told the foreman that he was taking the goods and had been told to report to the G.U.B. It was as a lesson to this and to other men in similar positions that the case was brought.

The Magistrate stated that this case was not in itself serious; it must be taken as a warning by others.

In view of the defendant's good character he was given the benefit of the First Offenders' Act.

POLICE ALLEGE TONS OF COAL
 HAVE BEEN STOLEN

Reginald Rumens, 28, a docker, of Slyn Fold, Lower Rohais, was charged with stealing on June 24th from a ship at St. Sampson's Harbour, about 20 lbs. of coal, value 10d., property of the States of Guernsey; further, with changing his address without notifying the Registrar.

Defendant admitted having picked up the coal from the deck of the ship.

The police stated that complaints had been received from the authorities that men employed on these ships were taking coal and the quantities amounted collectively to several tons. A watch had been kept and defendant and others had been caught.

Accused claimed that what he had taken would otherwise have been thrown overboard when the ship put to sea. He was unaware that he had to notify the Registrar of his change of address.

On the charge of stealing the coal a fine of 10s. was imposed and on the second charge a nominal fine of 1s. was levied.

Percy Charles Rumens, 26, a docker, of "The Aviaires," Collings Road, was charged with stealing on June 24th, from a ship at St. Sampson's Harbour, about 20 lbs. of coal, value 10d., property of the States of Guernsey.

Defendant, in this case, admitted taking the coal, but did not consider he had stolen it.

The facts were similar to those in the previous case and a fine of 10s. was imposed.

As will be seen in the advertisement, the concert arranged for Saturday at Les Camps Schoolroom has been postponed till July 18th.

An accident occurred to Major R. G. Davies while he was motor-cycling in the Grange soon after 10 o'clock this morning. Leg injuries were sustained, which, though painful, are stated not to be serious. The St. John Ambulance removed Major Davies to the Hospital for attention.

TO-DAY'S MARKETS.

HOUSEWIVES BUSY WITH
 WEEK-END SHOPPING

To-day was almost as busy as a Saturday in the Markets, for housewives like to secure their food for the table as early as possible.

There was a fair supply of dogfish, rayfish, a little conger and a few parcels of mackerel. Shell-fish and limpets were to be seen on a few stalls, there is no keen demand for spider crabs at the present time.

Big queues formed at several stalls in the Fish Market for some time during the morning.

In the Vegetable Market there were no decided queues. Black currants in cartons were an attraction; strawberries, limited in supply, were still at 8s. per lb. for good fruit; and raspberries were at 3s. 6d. per half-pound punnet.

A stall-holder asked us to mention with what gratitude stall-holders received back empty cartons and punnets, or sold to customers who took the precaution of bringing their own bags or baskets.

To-day the principal fruit sought for in the shops was the tomato. There were queues in almost all the fruiterers' shops for these, at 1s. 3d. per lb. for first quality samples. This fruit is sold generally in an under-ripe condition, but it ripens quickly when placed in the sun. The recent drop in price of this fruit has made it attractive; it is the cheapest on sale now. Bigger consignments are sure to be on hand in the near future with such warm weather as we are enjoying now. Loganberries are ripening fast, and a plentiful crop will soon be available.

A DIABETIC'S PLEA

Sir,—I was greatly surprised to be told by my grocer that I was unable to have any more sugar owing to my being a diabetic patient, and this week I am barred from having the jam ration. I know that neither of these luxuries are good for diabetics, but I do think that something could be done to compensate such people.

Until a few weeks ago we were able to buy a packet of rusks once a week, but this has now been stopped. Even a diabetic must have a certain amount of carbohydrates each day in conjunction with the amount of Insulin they are having. In many cases even the weekly ration of bread, oats and barley flour supplies barely enough carbohydrates to the system. Cannot something be done to help out the food problem, to all such sufferers as myself?

A DIABETIC.

"ACCIDENTAL DEATH"
 VERDICT ON MR. S. WEBSTER

The Coroner, Jurat Quartier Le Pelley, sat this morning to consider further evidence concerning the death of Samuel Webster, who was killed when he fell from an upper storey of the house, No. 2, College Terrace, Grange, on Tuesday last.

A written statement of the military sentry, the only witness of the accident, was submitted to, and accepted by the Coroner, who stated that from this it was apparent that an accident had occurred and returned a verdict accordingly.

MISSING MAN BELIEVED DEAD

It is understood that the body of Walter Bisson, 41, of L'Ancrese View, Vale, has been discovered in a Vale quarry. Arrangements are being made to recover the corpse by the local police authorities. It was reported almost three weeks ago that Mr. Bisson was missing from his home and had been in ill-health for some time.

Music-lovers are reminded that the Santangelo choir and orchestra are to perform "Hiawatha" (Coleridge-Taylor) at the Central Hall on Thursday and Saturday, July 2 and 4. A miscellaneous part will also be heard.

News has reached the Island of the death in England of Mrs. Le Brun, the wife of the Rev. J. Le Brun, Vicar of Alderney for about half a century. Mrs. Le Brun was an Irish lady, and her passing hence will be mourned by many.

PLAYBOY

Basil Meikleraid has congregated an interesting dramatis personae for his August Bank Holiday production of Noel Coward's "The Vortex." Headed by the producer and vivacious Gabrielle Gordon—remember her clear-cut success in "Private Lives"—the cast includes newcomers Margaret Carey, Charles Hutchesson, Douglas Steiner, and Robert Staig. If these make as incisive debuts as Miss Gordon, "The Vortex" should highlight Bank Holiday play-going.

* * * * *

Gilbert and Sullivan enthusiasts are expected to have their light operatic wishes fulfilled in the near future with the production of "The Pirates of Penzance." I understand Mr. Hubert R. Williams, popular local baritone, is inaugurating a new company and intends to spring a few surprises with his choice of cast.

Leopold Clarke's newly formed group is reported to have "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" scheduled as their initial effort.

Regal Players have abandoned the idea of producing "Hay Fever" for August Bank Holiday week. They are anxious to obtain the script of "The Light of Heart," although Producer Alfred Hopkins would gladly direct "Distinguished Gathering."

Guernsey Co-Optimists confer to-night after celebrating their "Sally" success. It is probable that they will select their next vehicle. This is likely to be a musical revue.

Recent requests for serious and constructive criticism of local amateur productions have decided me to essay reviews in this vein. Brace yourselves for snarls instead of superlatives, you Thespians.

Sometimes I wish the Regal Players with their undeniable collective talent, would descend into frank burlesque with a "Young Englishish" melodrama.

OPENING STAGES OF BOWLS
 "PAIRS" TOURNEY

DRAW FOR PRELIMINARY AND FIRST ROUNDS

The draw has now been made for the preliminary and first rounds of the bowls "Pairs" competition. It is reproduced below.

Here again, as in the singles competition, the field is a good one and play is expected to be keen.

All matches are to be played at Beau Sejour rinks. The closing date for the preliminary round is July 9, and July 23 for the first round.

Mr. R. F. Bastin wishes to thank Mr. T. Jarvis for a donation of 2s. 1d. for bowls charities. The amount collected so far stands at £3 15s. Later the winners of the competitions will decide to which charities the money will be allocated.

THE SICK ROOM

The Rev. K. C. Macartney, M.A., Rector of St. Andrew's, was taken ill at Lukis House on Wednesday morning and was admitted to the Emergency Hospital for an operation, performed that evening. We are glad to hear that Mr. Macartney's condition is very satisfactory, and that he has passed a restful night.

The Honorary Secretary of the Local Blind Association acknowledges a cheque for £10 from Mr. R. C. Machon, proceeds of a special charity performance of "Sally" by the Guernsey Co-Optimists. We take this opportunity to express to the whole Company our warmest thanks for their generous gesture and to assure them that they have come to our aid at a very anxious time.

CHARMING SARK WEDDING

(From Our Own Correspondent)

A charming and picturesque Sark wedding took place at St. Peter's Church, Sark, yesterday.

The sun shone brightly as the bell pealed out its wedding chime, and as the couple emerged from church.

The wedding was between Mr. George Hamon, fourth son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamon, Victoria Cottage, The Avenue, and Edith, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hamon, Le Dos D'Ane. Both are well known, so it was not surprising to find a large congregation at church.

The wedding was characteristically a Sark one. The bride entered the church on her father's arm. Couples then followed in order: the bridegroom and Miss F. Hamon (sister to bride), Mr. W. Baker, and Mrs. J. Hamon, jun. (sister-in-law to bride).

The bride was gownned in a charming white satin dress with a veil and orange blossom; she carried white carnations and roses.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Phillips, M.A. Mr. C. Vibert was at the organ.

The reception was held at "Homestead," where a large number of friends gathered to give their congratulations.

FUNERAL

MR. A. P. LE HUQUET

The funeral of Mr. Alfred Peter Le Huquet, who died suddenly on Sunday at Les Huriaux Farm, took place on Wednesday at St. Martin's Church, the Rev. R. Coulthard officiating. The mourners were Messrs. A. and D. Le Huquet (sons), Miss Violet Le Huquet (daughter), and Mr. S. Saussey (brother-in-law).

There were eight beautiful wreaths, inscribed: "To the best of husbands, from his broken-hearted Elsie"; "To dear Dad, from Alfred, Douglas and Violet"; Mr. and Mrs. H. Baker and Miss Turney; Mr. and Mrs. G. J. S. Guilbert, Arcade; Mr. and Mrs. J. Martel; "All at 'La Ville Farm'"; Tony; and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Frampton and Miss Frampton.

The funeral director was Mr. James W. Way, of Beekford's, Victoria-road.

BIRTH

DUNK.—On June 23, 1942, at the Emergency Hospital, to Irene, wife of Gilbert S. Duns, The Close, Doyle-road, a son (Michael Gilbert).

ENGAGEMENT

LE MARQUAND-PATCH.—The engagement is announced between Horace (Frank), eldest son of Mr. and the late Mrs. W. Le Marquand, of 48, Bouet, and Elsie Edith, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Patch, of 6, Edgcombe Terrace, Church-road, St. Sampson's. 25/6/1942.

MARRIAGE

MACKESY-LOUVET.—On June 24th, at St. Joseph's Church, by Canon T. G. Hickey, John Joseph, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Mackesy, Co. Limerick, Eire, to Ruth, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Louvet, Havilland Hall Farm, St. Peter-Port.

THANKS

Mr. Hantonne and family wish to thank the doctor and the nurses of "D" Ward, Emergency Hospital, for their kindness to the late Mrs. Hantonne; also relatives and friends for their enquiries and beautiful wreaths.

IN MEMORIAM

COLLENETTE.—In loving memory of Francis T. Colletette who died on June 28, 1940.

He was one of the dearest,
 And one of the best.
 God in His mercy
 Took him home to rest.
 Till we meet again.
 From his sorrowing Wife, Son and family.

ROBERT.—Two years ago to-day our dear sisters passed away, Misses Daisy and Amy Robert, Chelsea House, Glatigny Esplanade.

The cup was bitter, the trial severe,
 To part with our sisters we loved so dear.
 The trial was hard, we'll not complain,
 But trust to meet them in Heaven again.
 From their sorrowing Brothers Walter, Jack, Sister-in-law, and other relatives and friends. June 28/6/42.

OZANNE.—In loving memory of my dear sister, Dorothy Pearl Ozanne, who died June 28, 1941, at Bristol.

You are not forgotten dear,
 Nor ever shall you be;
 As long as life and memory last,
 We shall remember thee.
 Some may think that we forget you,
 Sometimes when they see us smile,
 But they little know the sorrow,
 That our smile hide all the while.
 From her loving sister Louise, also Gordon (Overseas).

OZANNE.—In ever loving memory of our youngest daughter, Dorothy Pearl Ozanne, who died on June 28, 1941, at Bristol. Sadly missed by Mum, Dad, George, Dan, Harold, little Clarence and Mona (Overseas).

Just a year to-day,
 God took our fair young daughter
 Into His beautiful home.
 Gone from those who loved you.
 How we've missed your welcome smile,
 Little did we think when leaving home,
 It was your last farewell.
 But in Heaven we'll meet again.
