Slaughter Control Eased

The OPA Saturday removed all controls over how much livestock may be slaughtered.

The agency also dropped its "fair distribution plan," which required slaughterers to follow the same geographic distribution pattern in making shipments that they used during the first quarter of 1944.

The two actions do not immediately affect meat rationing, but if expected increases in livestock marketing materialize, rationing may cially since the end of the war. He added, however, that the supply is not yet adequate to assure good dis-tribution without rationing controls.

Brewers Win, Need One More Victory

Julio Acosta may not pitch the game which will win the pennant as he did in 1943 and 1944, but he will receive an assist in the 1945 championship victory. The frail Cuban sidewheeler rescued Ewald Pyle Friday afternoon just when the Minneapolis Millers threatened to close out their Borchert field schedule with a needless triumph, but Acosta applied the brakes and the Brewers finished on top, 10-5, to sweep the three game series.

The senor took over with his coworkers ahead, 6-5, and the Millers on a batting spree in the sixth. One run was in and no one out when Julio answered Pyle's SOS and toyed with the northerners the rest of the George Case all but ran St. Louis out of the park at Washington last of the park at Washington last light, stealing three bases, including home, in a 3-2 razor thin verlict for Roger Wolf over Bob Muncrief. The argument over Case's theft of home in the first inning became so heated that Umpire Joe Rue chased Catcher Frank Mancuso. Joe Kuhel finally broke the men headed for new tracks Satur-day after a week of grand circuit ecoming the first 1945 Washington competition at Duquoin state fair becoming the first 1945 Washington player to hit one at home.

Detroit's aching back pitching staff continued to make life miserable for the Yank sluggers. Hal Newhouser, fresh from a series of examinations by the Motor City medicos, threw his high hard one past the home club for a 5-0 victory. Eddle Mayo continued his sensational hitting streak, boosting his average to 305 and a place in base

The Flag Over Tokyo

The Stars and Stripes floats over Tokyo. Gen. MacArthur's brief order is: "Have our country's flag unfurled, and in Tokyo's sun let it wave in its full glory as a symbol of hope for the oppressed and as a harbinger of victory for the right." It is a when we are wondering what our course ought

It has been a long, rough way from Bataan to Tokyo. We think of our surrender and retreat, of many men wantonly slain and of many thou- the great majority of the servicemen want most of sands fallen in battle, of heat and mud and dis- all to resume their place in civilian life with as ease, of the unforgettable torture of body and little fuss and red tape as possible. They will ing victory in Washington. How much more they understand, how many of them understand at all, is a question to be answered only by experience. We read of fanatical Japanese officers trying at the last moment to block the emperor's surrender. of killing their god-emperor's personal guards. We read that many of the kamikaze plunged to their deaths in Tokyo bay in protest.

By comparison, Hirohito in his fight through many months to surrender appears almost enlightened, certainly intelligent. For at least he knew what time of day it was, he knew that defeat was certain. Whether to save his own position or not, he was ready to end the hopeless

Now what is ahead? The first task is to make it plain to all Japanese that their country was defeated and is subject to alien rule. We must supervise the factories, we must prevent all attempts at rearming. We must put down the military caste which has ruled the nation with the sword. It will do no good to be mild with those who have been the enemies of their own country as well as of humanity.

After that? MacArthur says our flag flies as a "symbol of hope for the oppressed." We shall have a slow, exploring task of finding those leaders who were not of the military caste, of supporting those Japanese who are ready to reorganize their national life on a basis that does not threaten aggression against other nations. It may be that Hirohito or some other emperor chosen from the many members of the imperial dynasty will be helpful. We do not know. The son of heaven has been surrounded with so much superstition and mystery that what he is as a man is virtually unknown to us.

Anyway, we have assumed a task more difficult than the occupation of Germany because it will be harder to demonstrate our purposes to the Japanese people.

Appeal to Prejudice

Dr. Frank Kingdon, former president of Newingmen that "certain industrial groups" are in a "deliberate conspiracy" to prevent full employment in the postwar era. This is irresponsible for everybody to meet the postwar problems.

Americans may split on ways to attain full em- and work. ployment, but why should anyone want unemployment? Why should "certain industrial groups" want something that would make the total situation not only unsatisfactory but positively dangerous for them? The accusation simply is not reasonable.

But when it is told to 25,000 already class conscious men, it is a good deal worse than merely lacking reason. It is a way of arousing their prejudices, to the end that they can be used to apply pressure against government.

Such appeals are an enemy of democracy.

Tax Cuts for Veterans?

Bernard Baruch, who has a way of cutting right through to the core of a problem, has made a report to Gen. Omar Bradley, new veterans' adninistrator, on what he thinks is wrong with the whole machinery and program for assisting our veterans and what he proposes should be done to remedy the situation. He warns of "the terrible text that will often be repeated in years to come. danger" that we may "set the veteran off from the rest of the nation, cherishing the grievance that he has been wronged, his feelings an explosive fuel ready to be ignited by some future demagogues.

It seems fair to assume, with Mr. Baruch, that probably be quite satisfied if they can return to The Japanese know that they are not celebrat- the kind of a job and home and surroundings they had, or expected to have, when they were whisked away into the military service.

So Mr. Baruch rightly puts first emphasis on naming a vigorous and imaginative retraining and re-employment administrator, a man who will see that "the human side of demobilization is not for gotten." And he has other constructive sugges tions for changes in administration and in the GI bill of rights.

But Mr. Baruch's final proposal is one that will bear a good deal of analysis and discussion before any definite move is made in the direction he suggests. He would allow a 25% reduction in normal income tax rates as an incentive to veterans to start new businesses.

Entirely outside the economic aspects, or overall desirability, of providing such an incentive to anyone in any form, the proposal for any rebate, reduction or refund of taxes to veterans raises the question of setting the veterans apart as a special class of citizens who would enjoy special privileges in their purely civilian activities.

The GI bill provides certain direct assistance in the form of loans and cash benefits to the veter- strength of Hercules, he ans. It is probable that more of the same sort of to the death anyone who aids will be provided. There is, however, a very real distinction between direct assistance and special preferential legislation that would relieve the veteran of the normal obligations of our citizens to their government.
