Dear Richard,

Thank you for your letter in regard to Nuremberg. I was the Chief Prosecutor for the British at the major trial of Nuremberg. It certainly was sometimes a little hard to negotiate with the representatives of the Soviet Union but on the whole we got on reasonably well with them at that time.

I am afraid I only have a very small photograph, but I send you this.

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "Lord Shawcross", with a long horizontal flourish underneath.
