Counter Attacks Against Soviet Thrusts

ISLE OF CORFU OCCUPIED

From the Fuehrer's Headquarters, September 28th, 1943.

The German Supreme Command announces:—

At the Kuban bridgehead several local attacks of the Soviets were repulsed. The town of Temruk was destroyed and evacuated according to plan.

In the fighting area south-east and west of Zaporoshe the enemy continued his attempts at break-through with massed and partly freshly brought up forces. All attacks were frustrated in fierce fighting, the enemy suffering heavy losses. A Soviet fighting group which had temporarily broken into the German positions was thrown back in counter-attack.

On the central Dnieper the Soviets again attacked the German bridgeheads unsuccessfully. Fighting against several weak Soviet detachments which had crossed the river under cover of darkness is still in progress.

In the central sector of the Eastern Front the heavy enemy pressure continued unabated.

Several enemy attacks on the Murmansk front were smashed.

Light German naval forces sank a Soviet gun-boat in the Black Sea off the Taman coast and several supply vessels, totalling 2,100 gross registered tons on the the roadsteads of Anapa.

In South Italy the pressure of the Anglo-Americans, who had concentrated fresh forces, has considerably increased.
Whilst all attacks were repulsed in the Salerno area the German troops in the area of Poggia have disengaged themselves from the enemy according to plan and have retired to previously prepared mountain positions. After destroying all war-important installations Foggia was evacuated.

In the North-East Italy and Dalmatia strong groups of bandits were encircled.
They are facing their annihilation.

The harbour of Split, on the Adriatic Sea, which Badoglio troops in conjunction with Communists bandits defended, was taken by storm.

German Alpine troops landed on the Island of Corfu, whose treacherous garrison had taken up communication with the Anglo-Americans, after the rejection of an ultimatum. Effectively supported by the German Navy and Air Force, they smashed the enemy resistance, brought in several thousand prisoners and occupied the Island.

Escort vessels of a German convoy sank two British artillery E-boats near Fécamp off the French coast.

In the course of yesterday North American air force formations endeavoured to penetrate the German Bight towards North-West Germany under cover of cloud. They were encountered by German fighter squadrons and dispersed. The concentrated attack intended by the enemy was thereby frustrated. Casualties among the population and damage to private houses were caused by bombs in several localities and rural districts in the coastal area.

In the course of last night British bomber formations carried out terror raids against Hannover, and with weaker forces against Braunschweig, causing losses among the population and damage in several residential districts.

German fighters and anti-aircraft artillery of the Air Force, as well as patrol forces of the German Navy brought down 56, mostly four-engined bombers, over the Reich and the Western territories.

Marshal Tchang-Kai-Chek and Bolshevism

Marshal Tchang-Kai-Chek, the president of the Chinese Republic, has just laid before the Chinese Central Committee the conditions on which must be based the understandings between the government and the Tchoung-King Communists.

In the first instance the Communist Party must cease its policy of occupation by force; in the second, it must renounce the aggressive tactics which it has practised against the Tchoung-King troops; the third forbids it to continue its efforts in favour of the Comintern regime; fourthly, it shall cease its practices of confiscation by force of properties and soils; five, it shall dissolve the Bolshevik organisation which actually exists in the China of Tchoung-King; and sixth, it shall disband its army and incorporate its elements in the Regular Army of Tchoung-King.

Tchang-Kai-Chek concluded his speech by stating that the Tchoung-King government would not depart from this line of conduct.

Suicide of Marshal Cavallero

The day after the "Coup d'Etat" of July 25, Badoglio ordered that, among other officers of the Army and Fascist regime to be interned in a concentration camp, should be included Marshal Cavallero, who, for over a year, had been head of the General Staff.

Separated from the outside world, Cavallero ignored the shameful capitulation.

When the Germans opened the doors of his prison, he learned all this, and, faithful to his honour and to his flag, he could not bear the shame, and he shot himself at his home in Milan.

William Joyce Says . .

Germany has no Desire Outside of its Realms

The difference of attitude between the Allied Powers and the solid block of the Tripartite Pact Powers—Germany, Italy and Japan—formed the topic of the broadcast in English by William Joyce from Germany at 2.30 yesterday afternoon.

Importantly it was a speech made immediately after the third anniversary of the Tripartite Pact, and so the fact was a topical one.

Joyce pointed out that the Pact was entered into by Germany, Italy and Japan in pure consideration for the upholding of their rightful national interests in the world and for providing for the essential needs of their peoples. Subsequently, and for the same reasons, other Powers adhered to the Pact and the Three Signatory Powers for the preservation of the right of small nations and the benefits which would undoubtedly accrue to them by victory.

The contents of the Pact of the Signatory Nations was known and appreciated, and all would agree that there was a vast difference in the carrying out of the Pact compared with the manner in which the Allied Nations were conducting their agreements. Certainly, the position did not favour either Churchill or Roosevelt from commenting on the position in which the Tripartite Powers stood today. Had the attempt made to oust the Duce met with success, then it would not have been so easy to celebrate the Pact, but thanks to the prompt action of the Fuehrer, Italy remained an integral factor in the Pact. Germany was to fight on with Italy in virtue of the solemn Pact which Badoglio had tried to violate.

In the second place, said Joyce, he would draw the attention of all his listeners to another comparison—the comparison between the sensibly scientific outlook of the Tripartite Powers and the incapacity of their opponents.
We were hearing of Sicily being as the American "Malta", and in their references to post-war aims, the Allies could hardly be said to be in agreement. The Kremlin was given leave to an appointment in the Mediterranean! So one must consider that the Soviets were to be entitled to participate in the politics of the Mediterranean: the appointment was in itself evidence of Stalin's wish to do as he pleased.

Here Joyce observed that the Tripartite Powers, in contradistinction to the evidence of the aims of America and of Russia, had no desire outside of their own realms. Germany had no wish to decide matters in Asia. As for Italy, she wanted land for her sons and daughters, but, for instance, she did not have the slightest wish to discuss Canadian matters. In regard to the Tripartite Pact there was no room for misunderstanding ultimate intent; no conflicting ambitions to mar the effect reached. Now, with the Allies it was quite clear that discord would arise just so soon as Britain's Prime Minister did not give way to the smallest desires expressed by Roosevelt and Stalin.

This led, said Joyce, to the consideration of what part Britain would play if the Yankees decided to rule. What, indeed, would happen to that little seagirt island which lay on the western fringe of Europe? That she had been able to build up an Empire did not mean that she could retain it.
There were points of grave weakness showing in the Empire structure.
There was India, for instance, with stark famine in Madras, Bombay and Bengal. All these unhappy issues must go a long way towards abolishing British prestige.

Concluding, Joyce said that the other day Colonel Knox, the United States Secretary of State for War, had remarked that the British people had under-estimated the war in the Pacific. He, the broadcaster, could only say to this that it reflected on the price to be paid for allowing Churchill to lead them into that war at the request of Roosevelt. Schemes of Jewish finance had mobilised the whole world against an isolated Germany. But the Tripartite Pact kept the three nations of Germany, Italy and Japan as a solid block. It is true that Germany might with ordered intent take on a defensive action, but this was an action taken calculated to lead to final triumph. Germany and her Allies would treat with scorn and contempt all suggestions for conditions of compromise, and were fully determined to fight till they had gained an unconditional victory.

BRITAIN SACRIFICED AN EMPIRE TO INTERNATIONAL CAPITALISM

On the occasion of the recent fourth anniversary of the declaration of war, it will not be without useful purpose to recall how it was following certain difficulties that England saw herself under the obligation to throw Europe and the whole world in this gigantic conflict.

Outside of a desire to prevent the Continent becoming too strong, by her policy of maintaining an equi-brium in politics there, it was the incapacity of London in practising the internal purification of her immense Empire that caused the act.

The English themselves have always stressed the problems of organisation on Great Britain by the possession of such wide territories. The international forces of Jewry have known how to profit adroitly of these weaknesses in the interest of their financial speculations. London, having only served to aggravate the marasmus, had no other choice but to put everything in place and arrange matters to promote an international conflict.

Among the English able to assess and judge the evolution of British politics in regard to the Empire and in relation to Europe with increasing anxiety, is William Joyce, the well-known Bremen broadcaster. And here is what he writes in his book "Even-tide Over England":—

"The reason of the tragic turn of the affairs of Empire reside in the character proper of the democratic system, which consists in preferring thought and extensive economy to thought and intensive economy. These great territories of the globe over which reigns George VI., proudly vested in his title of 'Defender of the Faith,' have not been exploited from the economic point of view for more than an infinitesimal fraction of their productive capacity. And the system of intentional slackness has been allowed in spite of the terrible famine in India; in spite of the unemployment which bears so heavy on England herself; in spite of the under-feeding from which 55 per cent. of the global population of the Colonial Empire suffers—that is to say, the regions which depend directly on the Crown; the Crown Possessions.

"England had it within her grasp to exploit the greatest Empire of all time, and to equip and better it. But this unique chance has been sacrificed to the interests of international capitalism. New territories were annexed just to please the negotiating Jews, but this was done without a willingness to recognise the inescapable duty which accompanied the act of annexation: that is, the exploitation of the natural possibilities in the interest of the inhabitants of those countries in question.

"The Boer Wars, for instance, were not in the least conducted with a view to the development of the integral resources of the South African soil, but rather with the sole and peculiar purpose of permitting the Jews of Johannesburg to give free play to their speculative humour in the matter of gold and diamonds, and this to the detriment of the agricultural population.

"One can affirm, without fear of erring, that during years past international capitalism has known how to weaken universally the framework of the Empire without giving honour, beit but in thought, to the possibility of an honourable well-being acquired by hard work and not by get-rich-quick methods. Thus the City of London has created a World Empire where, while the diamond merchants make fortunes, men are dying for want of food. Let us not think that it is different for a famished native than for a starved Englishman; the one as the other are offered for bread the stones which stand for the principles of Democracy.

"One cannot affirm too much the fact that the democratic movements in the Empire are loudly applauded and encouraged by financiers. The reasons for this attitude of international capitalism are as follows:

1.—International capitalism hates all forms of effective political collaboration.

2.—Its interest is not given to the development of a maximum political system, but to the exploitation of the economic potential of a country.

3.—In many cases it is thought useful to support Nationalist movements, the better to have them suppressed by force. Thus is created the pretext of armed intervention in such a country.
Such a method is much more effective in the bringing to pass of a certain economic programme than long and patient negotiations or the slow action of a good government.

4.—Should the nationalism of the Empire peoples be placed on correct lines and democratic ways, international capitalism would lose all desired influence."

As in the centuries which have passed, so in the future, Europe must remain the object of Britain's political regard. The four years of war we have behind us have amply proved the indivisible cohesion of the Continent in its resistance to enemy attack. The collusion of London with the bolshevism of Moscow has contributed in opening the eyes of those peoples who in former times lived under English influence.

Famine in the U.S.S.R.

The London Communist paper, "Daily Worker," publishes the following:—

"Every day shows the urgency for the Western Democracies to create a Second Front. It can be seen that the Russians are not getting sufficient food.
A new winter is on the point of beginning, and many Russians will, in all probability, die from cold and want.

"The Times," says the Communist paper, recently declared that Germany was making a mistake in believing that the Soviets would succumb under the difficulties of their re-educating.
Mr. Roosevelt, in his message to Congress, talking on the negotiations arising from the "Lend-Lease" Act, recalled "The Times" to realities. He stressed that the U.S.S.R. is far from being in a position to produce the quantity of the foodstuffs which are vitally necessary. Mr. Roosevelt added that the question of foodstuffs in that country has reached such a critical point that often it has become necessary to stop sending war material to the U.S.S.R., so as to export alimentary products.

New Step!

The Archbishop of York has arrived in Moscow. The Dean of Canterbury, commenting on the visit of the Archbishop, declares that: "the visit is heralded as a new step on the road to an Anglo-Soviet entente."

The "Sudden Death List"

One of the organs employed for the purpose of destroying the national socialist countries is an international Jewish espionage system, which goes under the harmless name of "Information and Service Association," and has its headquarters in New York. It employs about 5,000 paid and 50,000 unpaid agents. The local leader of this espionage service is Sydney Wallach, a member of the "American Jewish Congress," whilst a former journalist, Frank J. Prince, is the head of the organisation. Prince has to report regularly on his work to Louis Dembitz Brandeis of the chief court of law in Washington and receives his instructions from him. This vast apparatus has actually absorbed all the official government espionage systems, and several Jewish leaders boast that the entire organisation of the U.S. Department of Justice is always at their disposal.

The secret files and records of the espionage organisation contain the names, addresses and personal details of more than 10,000 men and women in the U.S.A. who are opposed to Jewry and are constantly being watched. Lists of this kind have been compiled in all those countries where the Jews are still allowed to assert their influence, and will be used with devastating results as soon as the Jews succeed in establishing Bolshevism in the countries in question.

A particularly gruesome feature of the international Jewish espionage system is the so-called "Liquidation Apparatus," a secret organisation, which is composed of members of the "B'nai B'rith Lodge" and goes under the name of the American Vigilant Association. The members of this organisation, whose leader is the president of the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League in New York, Lawyer Samuel Untermeyer, are trained in all the various kinds of murder and have faithfully pledged themselves to "liquidate" all the well-known so-called anti-Semitic leaders when the order is given.

For some time past a list has been in circulation in the U.S.A., which is called the "Sudden-Death-List" by those in the know, and contains the names of American politicians who died a sudden death because they ventured to oppose Jewish control. Year by year the names of various victims are added to the list, which includes among others the following:—

Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico, died 1932.
Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana, died 1935.
Governor Allen of Louisiana, died 1935.
Senator Thomas Sha'll of Minnesota, died 1936.
Ex-Congressman Lou T. McFadden of Pennsylvania, died 1936.
Senator Governor Ritchie of Maryland, died 1936.
General Charles H. Sherrill of New York, died 1936.
Senator Lundeen of Ohio, died 1940.
Senator Borah of Idaho, died 1940.

The features which all these men had in common were that either they openly opposed the Jews or else were regarded by the Jews as unpleasant elements because of their political activity and were therefore either murdered or died a sudden death as a result of highly mysterious accidents.

It is hardly necessary to stress the fact that this Jewish espionage system has been furthered and supported to the utmost by Bolshevism. In its turn Jewry has used Bolshevism as a means by which to obtain control of the world—in so far as it is still in a position to do so at present, for the end of the war will see the ultimate destruction of Jewish control throughout the whole world.

POLICE COURT

Gaoled for Stealing Cycle

To-day before Jurat Quartier Le Pelley, Magistrate: Francis Batiste, 18, a labourer, of "Queux Manor," Castel, was charged with stealing on August 24, 1943, from the cycle park at Victoria Gardens, St. Peter-Port, one gent's bicycle, value £7, property of Mr. M. L. Le Gallez.

Accused admitted the offence. Inspector A. P. Lamy in outlining the case, stated Mr. Le Gallez recently saw a cycle frame at the Regal cycle park which he identified as from his stolen cycle. Enquiries were made and Batiste interrogated. He admitted taking the machine and changing various parts.

Batiste was sent to prison for four weeks' hard labour.

Men Beat Ladies

In the Ladies versus Gents encheire match played at the Home-from-Home Café last evening the Gents proved victorious by 50 games to 35. The highest score was recorded by Messrs. Edmonds and Morris, who defeated Mesdames Lock and Hector by 5 nil, while Mesdames Gurney and Robin retained the best for the Ladies with a 4-1 victory over Messrs. Corbet and Smith.

This highly successful evening was organised by Mr. Alan K. Jory, ably supported by Messrs. B. Bramall and H. Laine, and the fine sum of £4 14s. was raised for Miss A. Gardner's "Aged Poor Fund."

FUNERAL

Mrs. H. M. Luff

The funeral of Mrs. H. M. Luff, of "Medan," 115, Victoria Road, took place on Monday at the Foulton Cemetery, Mr. Girard, of the Brethren Society of Val-tord, officiating.

The mourners were: Messrs. W. N. and E. A. Luff (sons); Mrs. W. O. Voute (daughter); Mr. V. E. Luff (grandson); Miss P. M. Luff (grand-daughter); Miss I. S. Voute (grand-daughter); Mr. R. A. Luff (nephew); Miss Emma E. Donegan (niece); Miss A. S. Cox (niece). There were also a large number of friends present.

There were 10 beautiful wreaths:—"Sweet thoughts of our darling mother, from her loving children"; "Sweeter memories of our darling Grandma, from her loving grand-children (overseas)"; Olive; Essential Commodities Sports and Social Clubs; Fred and May; "All at Fairmead"; also Alec, Kathleen and Leonard (overseas); Mrs. Piprell; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith, Fort Road; Edith and family; Mr. and Mrs. W. Phillips. The interment was at the Foulton Cemetery.

The funeral arrangements were by F. Beckford, 21, Victoria Road, and under the personal supervision of Mr. J. Queripel.

RED CROSS MESSAGES

Messages received recently by Canon Hickey, from Sister De Sales, Head-Teacher, Delancey Catholic School, and the late Miss A. McDade: "Assure Delancey parents children well looked after and happy. Am having a hard fight to keep them as they all wish—a Catholic Guernsey Unit." 10th April, 1943.

"School question at last definitely settled—staying in Wesleyan Sunday School as separate Unit. All delighted. Miss Walters still on Staff. Regards." May 24th, 1943.

From Miss McDade, Head-Teacher, St. Joseph's Boys' School. (Last message) (Miss McDade died in Glasgow, July 23rd, 1943). "Very grateful daily memento. We too longing to be back with you, Boys all safe, well, happy. Grand Christmas Party after reunion. Eileen, Annie." Signed: Annie McDade. May 5, 1943.

THE MEAT RATION

The customary fortnightly meat ration will be issued at the week-end.

Wreaths

Among the wreaths sent for the funeral of Miss F. Bartlett was one which should have read: "From Miss Bond and Miss Lane (old employees)" and not what was inadvertently published on Monday.

Draw!

The Ladies soccer match played at Beau Séjour last evening between St. Martin's, and St. Andrew's resulted in a draw of one goal apiece. The game was not particularly interesting, neither team being at full strength, eight a side being played. Mr. C. Woods controlled the game.

Stolen Cycle Case

To clarify any misunderstanding which may have arisen concerning the stolen cycle case in the Police Court on Monday, we are asked to state that the cycle in defendant's possession at the time of the arrest, was composed of parts of the machine bought from Mr. Tostevin (St. Martin's) and parts from the stolen machine. Defendant, it was alleged, purchased the cycle from Mr. Tostevin in 1941 and had fitted parts from the machine stolen in June, 1943.

Children's Allowances Begin Next Week

Up to Monday night some 50 claims for children's allowances had been received at the office of the States Insurance Authority.

Many more are, of course, still due to come in, but the benefits accrue from the date of operation—September 25.

Actual payments will begin next week at the various Post Offices for those who have actually received awards from the Administrator, Mr. Ambrose Robin.

Save All Potatoes!

Those who have their pulse on the potato trade ask us to impress on the island public the absolute necessity of saving all possible potatoes, even the smallest that they find in their rations.

Complaints are made at times that small potatoes are found among the ware in rations. This is known and the reason is, the pooriness of the potato crop, generally. The necessity of utilising the whole crop, such as it is for human food, is very insistent, and the public are especially urged not to be tempted to waste most vital food by the converting of small potatoes into flour—a very wasteful process.

It will be remembered that in a potato case heard before the Jersey Court some days ago, the Bailiff of Jersey commented that, unhappily, some persons appeared to be living in a "Fools' Paradise" in the way they dealt in potatoes and neglected the provisions of the Law to safeguard and apportion supplies.

Sacred Concert at Brock Road

A sacred concert is to be given at Brock Road Church on November 3 at 6.30 p.m. by combined choirs, with Messrs. E. Sebire and C. N. Fala as organists. The work to be rendered is the "Hymn of Praise", followed by a short miscellaneous programme.

Miss Florence Martel, Mrs. Harold Brehaut, Misses Marjorie, Joan and Mary Le Lacheur, and Messrs. H. Quevatre, D. W. La Farge and E. Sebire will be among those taking prominent part on this occasion.

Windfalls

The heavy south-west wind blowing lately caused a part of the apples still on the trees to become windfalls, and consequently the supply of apples will be larger than usual this week-end. The wind also blew down thousands of acorns, and now that the acorn has a market value for the making of near-coffee, windfalls have an economic value not yet enjoyed. Gatherers had a specially busy time in the suburbia of St. Peter-Port, notably in the neighbourhood of St. Jacques.

All Guilds Festival

Great Gathering of Guilders and Choirs at St. Stephen's Church this Evening

To-day is the Feast of St. Michael and all Angels, and at 6.30 this evening the Festival of All the Guilds will be celebrated by Solemn Evensong at St. Stephen's Church.

The Very Rev. the Dean of Guernsey is to preside; the Rev. F. E. Collard, of St. Stephen's, will be the officiant; the Rev. E. L. Frossard, M.A., Rector of St. Sampson's, will be the preacher; and Mr. H. M. Lihou is Ceremoniarus.

The Guilds of St. Stephen's are those of Intercession, Communicants, Servers, Boys' Club, Girls' Club, Prayer Groups, Mothers' Union and Women's Guild.

The clergy attending will include the Revs. R. Coulthard, M.A. (Rector of St. Martin's), Vice-Dean; B. J. R. Guille (Rector of St. Peter's); J. H. Finney, L.Th. (Rector of the Forest); T. Davis, M.A. (Vicar of St. James' Church); and W. Kilshaw, A.M.C. (Vicar of St. John's Church).

The Ladies Choirs are to be present, and are to assemble at St. Stephen's Schoolroom before the service.

The Service of Solemn Evensong is to close with a Solemn Procession, during which the hymn "Thy hand, O God, has guided," will be sung.

Miss Marian Salisbury is to preside at the organ.

The members of the Guilds will be seated in the body of the Church, and with them will be the choirs of the Churches of St. Peter-Port, St. Sampson's, the Vale, St. Michael's Mission, the Castel, St. Peter's, the Forest, St. Martin's, St. Andrew's and St. John's.

The Festival service promises to be a very inspiring one, and the coup d'oeil should be impressive.

Cycle Accident

While cycling down the Castel Hill last evening, Mr. R. Gouaren, who lives at the Castel Hill, fell from his machine. He sustained a cut over the right eye, abrasions to upper lip, nose, and chin, and was attended to by Dr. B. S. Collings. His injuries are not considered serious.

This photograph is of the pupils now at the Forest School in England.

Gerhold Players—1941-1943

Now that the Gerhold Players have announced their seventh production as J. B. Priestley's famous play, "Laburnum Grove," it is opportune to recall that this company owes its origin to Rev. S. W. Gerhold, now in camp in Germany. It was Mr. Gerhold who, early in 1941, realised the need for light entertainment in Guernsey as diversion for the public. He was one of the first to stage a variety show—"Punch and Judy," which appeared at the Regal Cinema in January of that year. Until his departure from this island in September 1942 Mr. Gerhold continued to produce plays. He began his incursion into the legitimate theatre with the farce "Stray Lady," after presenting a second variety show entitled "East and West." Originally the group was named the St. Stephen's Players, but later, when new members were brought in to fill the needs of casting, the company became known as the Gerhold Players. They remain under that title, and although Mr. Gerhold is not in the island he is hard at work in the German camp, actively occupied in providing similar entertainment for the internees.

"Laburnum Grove" constitutes a complete breakaway from the usual run of Gerhold productions which have included some really funny and much appreciated farces. These have included "Hole and Corner," "Baa, Baa, Black Sheep," and "A Little Bit of Fluff." There was also the comedy-thriller, "Doctor! There's Danger!"

and three one-act plays at the Central Hall.

The Gerhold Players have always had strong following in Guernsey, and their success can be partly attributed to the fact that the same band of players have appeared in most of the presentations. For instance, George Horrell is making his seventh appearance, and his work, always marked by sincerity and enthusiasm, should take a step forward in the forthcoming show in which he has a fine little cameo of "Harold Russ." Neither would the Gerhold Players seem the same without the presence of Elaine Ralls, a lady who has had wide experience on the stage, and whose characterisations have always been good, and on occasions, little gems; she was particularly outstanding in "A Little Bit of Fluff." Joe Robert and Kathleen Messervy have both been conspicuous in previous plays, and the former is regarded by many as a comedian who will be extremely funny given the right material and acting experience. One of Miss Messervy's best roles has been "Meg Muzzler" in "Doctor! There's Danger!" Always extremely consistent is Lucy Coombe, who combines a good stage presence with clear and precise diction. She should have her big chance to show her acting worth in Laburnum Grove as "Mrs. Lucy Baxley." John Newman and Martyn Le Page are usually inseparable, and they have both provided little studies which will be remembered by most playgoers.

Then to complete the cast of "Laburnum Grove" there are Percy Martin and Reg Warley. The former has handled most convincingly difficult parts in farce. From his first appearance with the Gerhold Players in "Stray Lady" he has been called upon to carry extraordinarily long farcical roles on his willing shoulders. Considering that his pre-Occupation experience was mostly with school dramatics, and that mostly in Dickens' plays, his playing of farce has been uniformly good. However, we really expect something from him in "Laburnum Grove," for he has a character study which should be the delight of the amateur actor. Reg Warley is a competent actor who is accepting a largely part for the first time. Previously he has put in some very good studies in minor roles and many of the public have asked to see him in bigger parts. As "George Radfern" in the coming production he, too, will have every opportunity to show his true worth.

For "Laburnum Grove" the Gerhold Players will have the benefit of the direction of Mr. A. T. Hopkins, the outstanding producer of local entertainment. Mr. Charles Malard is to stage manage.

The Gerhold Players fill a definite niche in the Guernsey entertainment world: they serve a dual purpose—the net proceeds of their plays are devoted to charity, and they have offered hours of good entertainment to the public. As they say themselves in the souvenir programme which is to be put on sale before the production date—October 21st: "Thus the Gerhold Players feel that if meteoric strides in theatrical art have not been achieved, the original object in serving the public has been attained."

Photograph of Intermediate Scholars

In Monday's edition we reproduced a photograph of the Boys' Intermediate School scholars, now in England.

Those who wish to have copies of the original can order them from the "Evening Press" Stationery Department. This size will be 8"x5", and the price 2/6 a copy.

Orders should be placed early as only a limited number will be available.

Galaxy of Stars in "Candie Calling"

The charity show "Candie Calling" presented by Fred Leeder at Candie Gardens to-morrow and Saturday this week, brings to the Auditorium a galaxy of entertainers who have given appreciated turns during the past season.

The programme is a long one, over a score of items being included. All types of entertainment are catered for and are entrusted to artistes of repute.

The dancing scene "The Wedding of Jack and Jill," so charmingly executed in recent shows, has had to be billed once again. The senior dancing troupe, "Variety Four" are also in the cast.

Miss Ruth McGrath, always a firm favourite; Frank Martel with his accordion and Barry Williams are among the large number who are to perform. Space does not permit mention of the full company.

The show, compered by Fred Leeder and with Frank Martel at the piano, will run for only two performances, so showgoers are advised to book their seats for this variety at the "Press" Office.

The price of admission to the seats has been fixed at 1 RM. and to the grounds at 50 Pfennigs. The entire takings are to be given to approved local charities.

Soccer Season Should Provide Close Duels

Below are published the League Tables as they stand to date. We hope to print the current tables weekly—in our Wednesday edition—providing, of course, that pressure on space is not too acute.

It will be noted that some clubs have not made a debut yet. Two of these teams, the Centrals and Pessimists, are scheduled to open their programme to-morrow afternoon when they face each other. Selected sides for this encounter are as follows:

PESSIMISTS: Langlois; Moullin, McCarthy; Brouard, Guilbert, Chaudler; Bougourd, Crocker, Vegier, McKane, Druce.

Of last weeks fixtures, enough has been said of the Playboys—Vauxbelets encounter with its many surprises. The remaining matches were in the reserve section and were hard fought games. The teams appear to be very evenly matched this season and many duels can be expected before the honours are shared out. Grandes Rocques have a useful but not particularly clever side; Vale Recreation are a fine team, capable of defeating the weaker first division sides; the Centrals were disappointing in their first outing but will no doubt improve; St. Martin's are a great deal stronger than last season as their draw with the Centrals testifies; Torteval Rovers strengthened by members of their defunct first league side, are going to win more games than they will lose; the Vauxbelets could play an eleven able to challenge the best, but a lack of dauntless attitude is evident. Despite the long list of players signed on, they were one short for their opening fixture. The football in this league has improved considerably.

Employment Changes Order

The attention of the public is again drawn to the order relating to the Change of Employment. This order forbids anyone to take up further employment of any kind without having received a permit from the Labour Officer. Employers must note also that they cannot employ a person not in possession of a permit.

Photograph Claimed

The photograph of "John and Angela," which appeared in our issue of Wednesday last, was soon claimed. The lucky person was Mrs. Rowe, of Brock Road, St. Sampson's, and the photograph is of her grand-children. She had previously received Red Cross messages and also messages from Germany to the effect that the photograph was on the way.
