SOVIETS LOSE 141 AIRCRAFT IN DAY

47 Landing Craft also Sunk

From the Führer's Headquarters,
June 9th, 1943.

The German Supreme Command
announces:

On the Eastern Front no fighting of note occurred yesterday.

In the course of the fighting at the Kuban bridgehead during the past fortnight, in which the Soviets employed 13 rifle divisions, 3 rifle brigades, 6 tank formations and strong air forces, the enemy suffered very heavy losses in men and material.
100 tanks and 350 aircraft alone were destroyed.

Close-range German bombers yesterday sank 47 landing craft off the east coast of the Sea of Azov.

In the central sector of the Eastern Front 75 Soviet planes were shot down during an attempt by the enemy to bomb German aerodromes and supply centres. Spanish fighters accounted for 11 of this number.

The Soviets lost a total of 141 aircraft over the Eastern Front yesterday.
3 German planes are missing.

Heavy German bombers attacked harbour installations along the Algerian coast in the night preceding June 9th.

JUVENILE CRIME IN U.S.A.

Wide circles in the United States are horrified at the increase of juvenile crime since the outbreak of the war.
Official figures show that in New York 14% of all criminals are juveniles, in Washington 15%, in Boston 18% and in San Diego 50%. Moreover, girls of the ages from 12 to 14 are found to be increasingly active in crime.
Prostitution is on the increase, which is not surprising in view of the laxity existing in the American Armed Forces. The general increase in child criminality has caused concern even at the White House, but until now nothing has been done by the Government to check this dangerous menace in "God's Own Country." According to American experts, juvenile crime in relation to crime in general, had increased out of all proportion in the last quarter of 1942. In the States, crime altogether is rapidly increasing, especially sexual offences.

England against Europe

The Martin Luther University of Halle and Wittenberg held an Academic Week on the subject: "Europe and the Anglo-Saxon World", at which leading scholars delivered lectures.

The first speech was that delivered by Professor Ritterbusch, one of the directors in the German Ministry for Education. His subject was "England and Europe". This war, he said, has forced the contrasting currents in this world into an uncompromising, decisive combat. Expressed in brief, what is at stake is the Reich, a real order in Europe and the transformation of the world order into an order of the continents. All these three great decisions which, in the end, signify the struggle for existence of the whole German nation and beyond that of Europe, must finally be won by fighting the opponent of German unity and European order, England.

No nation, in the opinion of the speaker, has done so much and suffered so unselfishly for Europe as has the German. Again and again Germany faced the fact that the peripheral Powers of the West united with the peripheral Powers of the East against what can be called in the true sense of the word a real European order.
Tenaciously and cunningly England prepared the present world war as she did the first. While at that time the Prussian State and Hegelian Philosophy were represented as the bogeys, so today the Totalitarian State and the National-Socialist philosophy of life are represented as the adversaries of every free development of mankind against which Democracy must be defended. In this classification there is expressed the last attitude of English, of Anglo-Saxon humanity in regard to the European world, an attitude which most strongly opposes our development to political unity. For the English there is no such thing as an original synthesis of life, but only a "Large-Scale Measures of Complexity and Hazard"

—Mr. Churchill

Lampedusa Failure Provides First Object-Lesson

Failure of a British attempt to make a landing on the small Mediterranean island of Lampedusa was the subject of comment by Edward Roderick Deedshoe in his broadcast yesterday from Bremen.

"The Prime Minister, Mr. Churchill," he said, "in a statement to the House of Commons, spoke of large-scale amphibious operations of peculiar complexity and hazard which lie ahead. An interesting, if only minor illustration of the hazards peculiar to such operations is provided by the abortive attempt of British forces to occupy Lampedusa. They were driven off by the Italian defenders, who sank several landing craft in the process, and wiped out those troops who did succeed in getting ashore.

"I do not for a moment desire to exaggerate this event. Lampedusa is very small, some six miles long and two across. It has a small harbour town, inhabited by 2,500 people, so its importance can only be small. But the point of the failure of the attempt to take the position lies in the operation itself. It could hardly have been expected that it was part of the British plan that it should fail. The firm belief of those who planned the attempt must have been that the forces and the tactics employed would be adequate to the task. The event proved them wrong, and the whole affair turned out, from the British point of view, to be a miscalculation. Though only on a small scale, it was an error nevertheless, and the strength of the defence was underestimated. Lampedusa provides most valuable evidence regarding the chances of those large-scale operations of complexity and hazard which the Prime Minister forecast.

"The attack was abortive, just as the attack on Dieppe was abortive.
When Mr. Churchill spoke first of all, he referred to the brilliant prospects which lay ahead, but possibly speaking with knowledge—although nothing so far has been published about it in English newspapers—he later corrected himself, and described those prospects as bright and solid.

"Solid prospects they are indeed!
Without a doubt, that is the word to employ to describe the Atlantic Wall, or any other of the defences of the European coastline, at whatever points the Anglo-American forces may make their invasion attempt. Solid the defences are, and solid is the determination of the men who man them, and whose most ardent desire is that the attack upon them should be made with as little delay as possible.

"No doubt M. Maisky, the Soviet Ambassador in London, and the 'illustrious master of the White House', as the President is described, are also in favour of an early attempt at invasion.
One is a Jew, and the other has always been the most willing instrument of Jewry, but I doubt whether there is quite so much enthusiasm amongst the British people and their friends, who must bear the burden of the terrible losses which must inevitably ensue. At any rate, Dieppe was a most costly experiment in itself. I cannot believe that Lampedusa was an experiment as well. It is about time that such experimental landings and invasions were over.

"An interesting opinion has been expressed in Turkey by a military expert on the question of Allied chances of successfully invading Europe. This expert writes that the Anglo-American forces are not sufficiently prepared to make a successful landing, and he adds that all their resources in Southern Europe must be concentrated on safeguarding shipping traffic in the Mediterranean. Only, he says, if Sardinia, Sicily, Crete and Pantelera were successfully occupied, could any invasion undertaking have a chance. But even then, it would be most difficult, and its success would be more than doubtful, since the measures of defence taken by the Axis must not be underestimated. That, I think, is the lesson of the abortive attack on Lampedusa."

Britain Going Out of Business in East

German Munitions Output Tops New Peak

The German Bank of East Asia has signed an agreement with the Yokohama Central Bank for a clearing arrangement between Germany and Japan to ensure intensified economic co-operation between the two countries.

Reports from India state that British tea-planters in Assam are leaving their plantations as the result of British military setbacks in Burma, and merchants in Calcutta are liquidating their businesses in consequence of air raids by Japan.

The food-policy of the British Indian Government was severely criticised at a gathering of leading industrialists in Calcutta. Attending the meeting were

All shipping on the two main rivers ther evidence of the American policy of eliminating British influence in the Near East.

Tokio Imperial Headquarters announce that in aerial combats over the Solomon Islands on Monday of this week 49 enemy machines were shot down by the Japanese, who lost six aircraft.

A special report has been issued regarding economic reconstruction carried out by the Japanese in Malaya.
This work is progressing satisfactorily, and, whereas under British rule Malaya was practically wholly dependent on food imports, Japanese efforts have been concentrated on home production. Large tracts of land and jungle have been brought under cultivation, and numerous agricultural schools established for the population.
Oil and petrol are being produced, as well as paper.

Comment is made in Tokio newspapers on the recent speeches delivered by Reichsminister for Arms-aments, Speer, and Reichsminister Dr.
Goebbels. The conclusion drawn is that the present situation is obviously and entirely in favour of Germany and her allies. It is pointed out that, while the United States has not succeeded in developing more than 63 per cent. of its production capacity, Germany has now at her disposal for war work another 3.5 million workers.

The well-known English writer, Hannen Swaffer, quotes a letter from a sailor in the British Navy, saying that the sooner five or six million Jews are exterminated, the better it will be for the world in general, and adding that toasts would be drunk to the day on which Jewish influence would be annihilated for ever. Swaffer adds that of every eleven letters written to him, nine are definitely anti-Jewish, and he declares that the British people are at last realising the extent of the Jewish menace. This was illustrated by the fact that another man wrote to him stating that his newspaper lost 50 per cent. of its readers when it started to take the part of the Jews.

Ten Norwegian nurses were given a

The setting up of an SS Infantry Division in Galicia has been warmly welcomed. It is under the leadership of a former commander of the Ukranian Army, and men are crowding to

The extent to which the German Air Force dominates the entire Eastern Front is illustrated by the fact that fast bombers destroyed 80 lorries during a low level attack on roads of the Black Sea coast.

British E-boats which attempted to interfere with convoy routes between Dunkirk and Calais were immediately engaged and driven off, and German vessels proceeded on their way.

A French trawler which was machine-gunned by four American bombers has put into harbour on the Atlantic coast with three of the crew dead and seven injured.

FOR AND AGAINST

"Yorkshire Post" makes out a clean bill of accounts by itemizing the action and effect of Anglo-American air raids on Germany on the strength of the ten larger raids flown during April of this year.

Naturally, it is stated, the number of bombers sent into action on the Allied side could not be given. On the other hand, the German statement of at least 233 failing to return to their bases had been left uncontradicted and, therefore, could doubtless be relied upon.

This quota of loss was extraordinarily high. It amounted to approximately 1,700 trained airmen.
These 1,700 men, all valuable specialists, were either dead or taken prisoner.

It was difficult to obtain a true picture of the success of the raids, for, without exception, they were flown by night so that the definitely military damage, as was usual in the case of such undertakings, was probably within more or less bearable limits for the enemy.

The effect of the raid was more favourable inasmuch as the wearing down of enemy civilian population in the nerve war must be taken into consideration. However, one thing gave cause for reflection. Total enemy loss of life was surely no higher than the Anglo-American loss of airmen. On the enemy casualty list by far the greater number were not valuable, barely replaceable specialists, but women and children.

Seven enemy aircraft were destroyed over the Mediterranean on Tuesday.
On Tuesday night Italian torpedo-carrying aircraft which were engaged on reconnaissance sighted an enemy convoy off the Algerian coast. The Italian planes proceeded to the attack at close range, despite the activity of numerous enemy night fighters and searchlights. One vessel of 5,000 tons was set on fire, and a direct hit scored on a second steamer. All the Italian planes returned unharmed to their bases.

A surprise attack on an important Tchung-King base on the south bank of the Yang-Tse River was carried out by Japanese air units. Military installations were damaged. A Tchun-King military spokesman stressed the necessity of more planes and heavy weapons being received from their allies, as nothing had happened to eliminate the threats of the Japanese, who held many important positions.

Martial law has been called off in

The British Minister for Aircraft Production, Sir Stafford Cripps, has been complaining bitterly of the fact that British universities and colleges are unable to turn out qualified scientific workers in sufficient numbers to meet the needs of industry.

Production of munitions in Germany showed a 6.3 increase during the month of May over the monthly average for the whole of 1941. More munitions were produced last month than in six months of 1941. Italian factories were also working at their maximum capacity.

An attack by a British bomber formation on a convoy off the North coast of Norway was warded off by escort vessels. One bomber was shot down, and the convoy proceeded.

The heavy defensive battle which has been raging since May 25th on the Kuban bridgehead has now died down.
The Soviets have sustained very heavy losses, and the main positions remain firmly in German hands.

SPORTSMEN'S MAGNIFICENT EFFORT
FOR ISLAND CHILDREN"Star" Fund to Receive Over £163 from Football Match

If ocular proof were needed that the heart of the Guernsey public goes out to the needy children in their midst, and that their sympathies are wholly with "The Star" Fund in its constant efforts to assist them, it was forthcoming in full measure on Tuesday evening.

By the football match at Beau Séjour, the sum of over £163 was raised for the Fund.

For this magnificent result, the warmest thanks and congratulations are due to Madame Pommier and Mr. H. Mignot, with whom the idea originated; to Mr. Len Purdy, for his splendid eleventh-hour efforts in raising a team to meet the V.O.B.A.; and to all the players, officials, and collectors for so enthusiastically co-operating.

But, most of all, perhaps, gratitude is due to Madame Pommier's daughter, Mrs. Bricard, who put in many hours of hard work preparing for the event. Her work was beyond all praise, and the children have in her a real friend.

A RECORD CROWD.

More than 2,000 people went to Beau Séjour—the largest crowd for a long time—and, while they were being rewarded with a first-class display of football they were giving generously for the children.

Thanks to Mr. Purdy's hard work, a strong and representative Island XI was fielded to meet the Occupation Champions, V.O.B.A.—so strong, in fact, that it was successful by 4 goals to 2, although the result did not matter after such a grand exhibition of sportsmanship.

Jurat Quertier, Le Pelley and Mrs. Le Pelley, Mr. H. E. Marquand (the States Supervisor) and Mrs. Marquand and Mr. W. S. Frecker (of the G.F.A.) watched the game, together with Madame Pommier, who derived the utmost satisfaction from the result of her efforts for the children.

BRISK SALE.

Sale of numbered programmes was so brisk that within a short time all had gone, and the sum thus realised for the Fund was further supplemented by collections, with which a number of little girls helped.

Altogether, before and during the match, over 5,000 numbered programmes were disposed of, for sums varying from 5 marks to 5 pennings, and the holders are all entitled to participate in the pool of gifts, which were handed to Madame Pommier for the benefit of the Fund.

"The Star" will announce the numbers of the lucky programmes on Saturday.

THRILLING PLAY.

It is true to say that no finer game of football has been seen in Guernsey since the occupation than that provided by V.O.B.A. and the Island XI. It kept the crowd on their toes for the whole 90 minutes. The teams were:

V.O.B.A.—C. Jeffries; Naftel, Warr; N. Brouard, Frampton, Bent; W. Martel, Le Sauvage, Duquemin, Le Page, Guillemet (capt.).

ISLAND XI.—Loveridge; E. Chick, de Garis (capt.); E. J. Martel, Marley, Duquemin; Collette, Collins, Mahy, Crocker, W. Chick.

Thrills there were in plenty from the very start. Collette, of the Vale Recreation, playing for the Island side, was brilliant. His opening score was the goal of the game. He obtained the ball, took it down on the right and with a beautifully judged angle drive fired the ball into the top corner of the net, giving Jeffries little or no chance.

Collette, indeed, was the "shining light" of his side, and this put the Island team one up after 12 minutes' play.

Guillemet scored the equaliser. Following a corner, the ball rolled over the line, but most spectators were rather surprised when referee Eric Field whistled for a goal.

At the interval the score was 2-1. W. Chick scoring the second goal for the Island from the left when he received a pass from R. Mahy.

GOOD GOALS.

After some sharp exchanges in the second half, Duquemin, who adopted a roving commission, centred from the left to Martel, who headed into the net to bring the sides level.

W. Chick put the Island ahead following a pass from the right—a good goal.

Reuben Mahy proved a big success. Replacing C. P. Guilbert at centre-forward, he played a hard game and deserves praise for the final goal he scored for the Island XI. Collette took the ball up the right wing and centred it for Mahy to score the final and one of the most stylish goals of the game with a grand header.

Young Les Collins, besides making clever attempts at scoring, played a consistent game throughout.

Towards the close there was much excitement. Four successive corners, two from the left and two from the right, were all repelled by the V.O.B.A.

Duquemin did a vast amount towards adding to the intensity and ebullience of the game. He sent in terrific shots at goal, only to hit the upright or crossbar, with a resounding whack.

Other players who earned noteworthy praise were both the V.O.B.A. backs, Naftel and Warr and W. G. Le Page. On the Island side Marley and de Garis were outstanding.

Mr. Eric Field controlled the game in a most competent way, well supported by the linesmen—L. Purdy and C. Wood.

TRIBUTE TO THE ORGANISERS"MAGIC WAND" OF
MR. LEN. PURDY

To the Editor of "The Star."

Sir.—Having been officially connected with the Guernsey Football Association for thirty-three years, I wish to pay a tribute to those who were responsible for the organisation and carrying out such a successful match for your Fund on Tuesday evening. It may not be generally known that it was by almost the shortest notice that could be given—late on the previous evening—that the original fixture was quashed.

Up to eleven o'clock on Tuesday morning not a player had been warned. But promoters, Mme Pommier, and Mr. Mignot, would not let the match fall through, as more than a thousand programmes had already been purchased and twenty-eight gifts as prizes for numbered programmes received.

Fortunately, they found a fairy godfather in the person of that well-known and popular sportsman, Mr. Len Purdy, who, on being appealed to at once said he would try and get a team together to meet V.O.B.A. He must have been possessed of a magic wand, for the players he approached willingly agreed to play even at such short notice.

Before three o'clock he had collected a complete and skilful side together. Strictly speaking, it was not an Island XI, as it had not been chosen by the Island Selection Committee, but I doubt if they could have done better, as the result proved.

In all my long experience, I do not think I have seen a more enjoyable match carried on in such a sportsmanlike manner as this one, and likely to give such a good financial result for the children.

I also wish to thank those civil officials who responded to invitations sent to them and attended the match, and every player on the winning and losing sides, for each did their very utmost to win. Although the V.O.B.A. were not successful, they had as much of the game as their opponents, but goals decide the result. Last but not least, thanks to the public for the wonderful support given to a match at the end of a season much prolonged.

W. S. FRECKER.

Two Young
Fishermen
DrownedMine Explodes
under Boat

Two of the Guernsey fishermen who daily risk their lives in the hazards of war in an effort to provide food for the local population were yesterday the victims of a tragic and fatal accident resulting from a mine explosion in the waters off Herm.

They were 28-year-old Archibald Sebire, of 1 Upland Road, and Herbert Dunn, aged 21, of Surprise Cottage, Bouet.

Two other men in the boat, John Alfred Quinain (29) and Harry Quinain (25) both of 4 Candie Road, had miraculous escapes when they were thrown high into the air and rescued from drowning by another fisherman.

The fishermen left the harbour as usual in the morning in the soft-motor-boat "Sunrise" (G. 100) which was owned by the brothers Quinain.

FLUNG HIGH IN AIR.

They were out fishing all day, and it was at 5.30, when they were near the Humps, off Herm that their boat hit a mine.

Their boat was flung high into the air, and when they hit the water the brothers Quinain, who are strong swimmers, managed to keep afloat.

Nothing was seen of their companion, Harry Dunn, who completely disappeared; but for some time Jack Quinain managed to support "Archie" Sebire in the water.

He could not, however, retain his hold and Sebire, too, disappeared after Jack Quinain had managed to get him a piece of floating wood to which he clung for some time until exhausted.

RESCUED.

The plight of the fishermen had been seen by Mr. D. Domaille, who was fishing a mile away.

He immediately made his way to the scene of the tragedy and was in time to rescue the brothers, Jack and Harry Quinain from the water.

They searched for the bodies of the other victims before returning to St. Sampson's Harbour but could see nothing of them.

When they were landed on the shore they were still in a dazed condition and were minus some of their clothing. They were taken to their home at Candie Road by the St. John Ambulance.

Their boat, the "Sunrise", was reduced to matchwood by the explosion.

Archibald Sebire was a married man with one child, while Herbert Dunn, who is single, helped to support his mother.

The brothers Quinain and Sebire were Aldermen and Dunn was a Guernseyman.

TRAGIC COINCIDENCE.

A tragic coincidence in connection with young Dunn is brought to light by the fact that two years ago, almost to the very day, his elder brother, William T. C. Dunn, also lost his life in a fishing tragedy off L'Anse-aux-Bois.

While fishing from the rocks near Fort Doyle on June 8, 1941, he became entangled in his fishing gear, fell into the sea and perished.

The sympathy of all islanders will go out to those who mourn the death of the two fishermen.

An inquest will be held when the bodies have been recovered.

ADMIRAL SIR
THOMAS HUNT
DIES IN ENGLAND

Many islanders who knew him will hear with regret of the death of a prominent Englishman who was a regular pre-war visitor to Guernsey, where he had a host of friends. He is Admiral Sir (Allen) Thomas Hunt, K.C.B., C.B., C.S.I., who was in his 78th year.

News of his death in England recently was sent through Germany to his cousin, Mr. Geoffrey Carey, of Stanley House, King's Road.

Admiral Hunt, who was educated at Marlborough College, entered the Navy in 1879. His prowess and service is best illustrated by his fine record, which was as follows:—Commander, 1900; Captain, 1906; Vice-Admiral, 1922; served Egyptian War, 1882 (bronze medal and star); Witu, 1890 (dispatches, general Africa medal, clasp); Dongola Expedition, 1896 (Khedive's medal); Crete, 1897 (dispatches); South Africa, 1899-1900 (medal and clasp); Somaliland, 1908-9 (medal and clasp); Persian Gulf, 1909-11 (C.S.I. medal and clasp); 1914-15 (Star, War medal, Victory medal); Coronation, 1911 (medal); 3rd Class Order of Rising Sun, Japan, 1912; Rear-Admiral, 1917; European War, 1914-18 (C.B.); C-in-C. South America, 1919-21; retired list, 1924; Admiral, 1926.

Admiral Hunt lived at Byne House, Warminster, Wilts. He was the third son of the late Rt. Hon. G. Ward Hunt, M.P. for North Northamptonshire, one-time Chancellor of the Exchequer and First Lord of the Admiralty.

SPRINT TITLE
RACE ON
WHIT-MONDAYADDED ATTRACTION TO
CRICKET OPENING

Guernsey's 100 yards sprint champion, Archie Curr, the well-known Grandes Rocques soccer player, has decided that he will defend his title against all comers and challengers at the College Field, King's Road, on Whit-Monday afternoon.

This race for the Fuzzey Cup, which is held by Archie Curr, will be run during the first cricket match of the season, in which the G.I.C.C. will oppose a strong team playing as "The Occasionals."

The young island boxer, Roy Smith, threw out the original challenge to run against the title-holder for the coveted honour of Guernsey's 100 yards' sprint champion, and it was not long before other contestants, Graham Buckingham, R. L. S. Bichard, E. Howlett and H. J. Goman, entered the field.

SIX RUNNERS.

It is unfortunate that Bichard, whose injury in a soccer match caused the original postponement of the event, will not be able to run as his ankle has not yielded sufficiently to treatment.

Nevertheless, other sprint enthusiasts are to compete and at the moment the line out for the race is expected to be as below—Archie Curr, Roy Smith, Graham Buckingham (a doubtful starter owing to a strained back), E. Howlett, H. J. Goman and Peter Biancheri.

It is hoped to run the race during a special interval in the cricket match, between 4.15 and 4.30, and the cup will be handed to the winner by the Dean of Guernsey, the Very Rev. Agnew W. G. Giffard, M.A., who is President of the G.I.C.C. The time-keeper will be Mr. J. E. Coward, and other officials will include Messrs. M. C. Allen, F. W. Mourant, Eric Field, and A. E. Foster.

TEAMS.

The day should be a gala day for island sportsmen, for, in addition to the race for the 100 yards, there will be the very interesting cricket match between the G.I.C.C. and the Occasionals. A collection will be taken on the ground in aid of "The Star" Help-the-Children Fund.

Wickets for the match will be pitched at 2 o'clock sharp, and it is hoped to start right on time. As "King Willow" will be making his debut of the season, hundreds of Guernsey sportsmen should be present to see the two big events of the day.

Teams for the match are as follows:

G.I.C.C.—H. F. Rich (capt.), E. T. Bailey, E. J. Hillier, W. Hickman, O. Lucas, K. G. Brennan, J. H. Martel, P. C. Malzard, W. J. Chick, A. H. Green, J. H. Patch, L. E. Barbé.

OCCASIONALS — L. L. McKane (capt.), M. C. Allen, C. Wood, B. Robinson, E. Douch, W. Druce, E. Smith, E. Martin, C. Cardner, J. Loveridge, H. Mallett.

New Stamp Issue in Jersey

A new pictorial issue of stamps is now in circulation in Jersey. The halfpenny and penny stamps are already available the first issue being on sale at Jersey post offices on June 1. The remainder of the set of new issues, up to 3d. in value, will be available later.

The set has been designed by the well-known Jersey artist, Mr. E. G. Blampied, and was printed in Paris. They are extremely attractive stamps and many Guernsey people, on hearing of Jersey's new issue, will optimistically hope for a similar innovation with regard to local stamps.

At the time that Guernsey's occupation stamps were issued many people through "The Star" advocated that a pictorial series would have been more attractive than the design which was eventually chosen. As Jersey followed our example in those past days it would seem that the tables are turned and it is now our duty to emulate their welcome change.

Sunday Variety at Candie

A musical treat is in store for those who attend Candie Gardens next Sunday evening, when the Lyric Variety Augmented Orchestra, presented by Peter Campbell, will give a specially selected programme of light orchestral music under the direction of Mr. F. Collet (musical director), supported by the Lyric variety stars, the Brache Sisters, Gertrude Duquemin, Rex Priaux, Wilfred Shirvell, Herbie Williams and Douglas Luckie.

To give everyone an opportunity of seeing this programme in comfort a booking plan has been opened at the "Press" office. This concert is timed to start at 8.15 p.m. so that it will in no way interfere with services at places of worship. Book early.

"YOUNG PERSON IN PINK"

A large and appreciative audience assembled at the Lyric Theatre last evening to welcome the Clifton School of Commerce in their second stage show, "The Young Person in Pink."

Clifton scored such a great success with their first production "Nine till Six", that their second attempt has been long awaited by regular playgoers. It certainly proved a greater success than the first, and their producer Miss Louisa P. Higgs, who has put in a great deal of time and work in training the cast, has cause to be well satisfied with their achievement.

"The Young Person in Pink", a comedy in three acts by Gertrude Jennings, contains many witty lines, and the audience had a fine chance to forget all their worries.

The success of the play was chiefly due to two promising young actresses, Vera Fustic and Kathleen Burch.

Vera Fustic, making her second appearance on the stage, tackled the big and rather difficult part of Mrs. Badger, remarkably well; her make up was excellent, and the audience could hear every word she said. She was excellently supported by Marjorie Burch well cast in the role of Ada Badger.

The role of Leonora was effectively played by Paulette Chapin, and Roy Rabey a new comer, as Lord Stevenage, did very well.

Arthur Whiteley changed his sphere from variety to stage acting, and made a very good park keeper, but if he could speak up a bit more he would be much better. The same applies to Irene Le Gallez, well suited to the part of scandal-monger Miss Winch, her actions were good, but there did not seem enough energy in her voice.

Verity Wellington, in a smaller part than usual, was well cast as the somewhat catty Lady Tonbridge.

GOOD OMEN FOR FUTURE.

Other roles were effectively characterised by Betty Kenny, Joan Morvan, Marjorie Webber, Elaine Hibbs, Joan Norman and Jean Blondel. Everyone seems to have worked extremely hard to make the production the great success it has proved, and all the playgoing public will wish the Clifton School of Commerce the best of luck in future productions.

Stage management was under the direction of Barbara Norman and Hilda Bourgourd, the scenery was, as usual by E. G. Boile, the furniture was loaned by Messrs. I. C. Fuzzey of Tudor House, Bodgey, and the gramophone by Messrs. Fred G. Fuzzey & Sons, of High Street.

Entra'ct music was supplied by the Lyric Variety Orchestra (leader Fred Collet), and the producer and cast owe thanks to Mr. A. T. Hopkins the well-known local producer, for helpful suggestions and constructive criticisms.

"The Young Person in Pink", is being presented again this afternoon at 2.45 p.m., and to-night, Friday and Saturday at 7.30 p.m. People are advised to book at the Lyric without delay.

HIGH TRIBUTES TO MR. JOHN A. DE GARIS

PARISH OFFICIALS' GUARD-OF-HONOUR

The very high public esteem in which the late Mr. John A. de Garis, of Les Lohiers, St. Saviour's was held was evidenced by the eloquent tributes paid to him at the funeral which took place at Carmel Methodist Chapel and St. Saviour's Cemetery, on Tuesday afternoon.

FINE CHRISTIAN LIFE.

Mr. de Garis who was in his 48th year died with tragic suddenness a week ago. The Rev. G. S. Dunk and Mr. Clifford Falla paid glowing tributes at the funeral service to the many high qualities and exemplary life of Mr. de Garis. He had shown sterling ability and rendered his parish fine service in official capacities, his work as a Constable being outstanding. He, too, had done great work for Christianity particularly as a sick visitor, while his wonderful love for children had been shown in his great interest in them, both in Sunday School and outside of it. He had taught the children at Eldad and his good work had borne fruit in the good Christian lives of those children.

He would be sadly missed by a host of people for the great good he had done for his parish and his church, and for the fine Christian life he had led. Both speakers pointed him a fine example to others.

That Mr. de Garis was greatly respected by many islanders was evidenced by the beautiful array of wreaths and the large attendance of people at both the church and cemetery services. He had been a Constable of St. Saviour's, and it was fitting that his Constable colleague, Mr. Stanley Ogier, and members of the Douzaine should form a guard-of-honour as the coffin was borne into the church and cemetery. The Douzaine members were:—Messrs. T. M. Vidamour, W. Gavey, John Le Page, O. Le Page, J. Le Page (Houque Fouque), John Bourgaize, D. Le Poidevin and Frank Robin.

Hymns sung at the service were: "Hark my Soul it is the Lord", and "Rock of Ages".

MOURNERS.

Mourners were:—Messrs. C. F. Robin (brother-in-law); A. Carré (brother-in-law); J. Lenfesty and A. Lenfesty (uncles); A. de Garis and C. de Garis (cousins); Mrs. A. Carré (sister); Mrs. C. F. Robin (sister); Miss P. Paint (friend); Mrs. A. Thomas (mother-in-law); Mrs. J. Lenfesty (aunt); Miss de Garis (cousin).

Pallbearers were Messrs. Stan Ogier (friend); J. Lenfesty, T. Lenfesty, P. Guilbert, H. Jarvis, L. Guille (cousins).

Among those present were Jurats J. Allez Simon and E. de Garis; Messrs. J. Bourgaize and W. Dempsey (employees); Messrs. John Dorey, W. Batiste, Stephen Bragg, W. Duchemin, T. W. Vidamour, D. Tostevin, E. Lainé.

Acquitted by Royal Court

Forty-two-year-old Mrs. Vinolia Florence Brehaut, of 93, Victoria Road, St. Peter Port, was yesterday before the Bailiff and nine Jurats found not guilty of the indictment preferred against her in connection with abortion.

Two Jurats were of the opinion that she was guilty, while the remainder agreed with the conclusion of the Bailiff in favour of acquittal.

Attorney-General Advocate J. E. L. Martel, prosecuted, and the defence was in the hands of Advocate W. H. Langlois. The case eventually evolved into an argument as to the definition and interpretation of the law.

Summarised, the charge against Mrs. Brehaut was that of having, "between April 25 and May 11, or thereabouts, alone, or with other accomplices in a house at 93, Victoria Road, and elsewhere in this island, having aided, assisted, advised and encouraged" Mrs. M. F. Williams-Yeagers in committing the crime for which the last-mentioned had earlier been sentenced to five years' penal servitude.

DEATH OF MR. F. W. KNIGHT

The death has occurred in Jersey of Mr. F. W. Knight, at the age of 78. He was the father of Mr. F. W. Knight, well known throughout the Channel Islands in pre-war days for Cup Final and other popular excursions to the mainland that he organised.

Mr. Knight, sen., fell and fractured his thigh on March 29 in Queen Street and previously his health had not been good.

The sympathy of many Guernsey people will be extended to Mr. F. W. Knight, jun., for many islanders still have happy memories of the many pleasurable hours his popular excursions provided.
