MUSSOLINI STIRS ITALY WITH DRAMATIC
TALKING TO DEPARTING TROOPS.
FURTHER DETACHMENTS LEAVE FOR AFRICA.

In a speech, which no paper has been allowed to report, to troops whom he reviewed at Eboli, near Salerno, before they sailed for Africa, Signor Mussolini left no doubt of his intentions to attack Abyssinia and made it clear he will attack the moment he has sufficient troops and plane.

More troops are on the way to Africa - the troopship Delmetia left Naples with nearly five hundred men and heavy artillery aboard, and other ships with carrying further detachments are leaving Cagliari.

Gioventù (Young Fascist Group) massed in the Piazza Venezia in Rome to celebrate the fifth

Mussolini presented prizes to the members

MUSSOLINI REVIEWS HIS FORCES AS WAR
DANGER AGAIN LOOKS IN ABYSSINIAN DISPUTE.

42382
As the tense situation existing between Italy and Abyssinia suddenly became more critical and the danger of war much more real, Signor Mussolini reviewed immense forces recently called up on the Littorio Airport. The whole of the 1912 reservist class, numbering 150,000 men, is now to be called up, and when they are under training, Italy's army will total three-quarters of a million.
