HERE IS THE PROOF - WITH MORE TO COME

WASHINGTON, D. C. - German civilians (in background) are brought to the Buchenwald prison camp, near Weimar, Germany, to see the evidences of atrocities committed there. They are gazing upon shrunken human heads (left), parts of organs of victims who died of various diseases, and stencillings and tatoo markings on sections of human skin. The lamp at right was fabricated from skin of dead persons. Prime Minister Churchill has said many details have not yet been made public.
